

THE WEATHER

Light variable breezes mainly from the West. Fine and warm. At 1 pm at the Observatory the temp was 89 degrees F and the relative humid 62 per cent.

LATE FINAL

CHINA

MAIL

No. 38015

FRIDAY, JUNE 30, 1961.

Price 20 Cents.

Comment of the day

EAST GERMAN THREATS

"BERLIN or bust" was a Western allied slogan during the last war. We got to the German capital, but now the illogical agreement about the division of the country, leaving Berlin in the hands of the East Germans, backed by the Communist might of Russia is proving to be one of the greatest headaches in all history.

Twelve years ago the West countered the Russian blockade of Berlin by producing an airlift that overshadowed the giant invasion of France.

The Russians backed down but from time to time pressure has been applied in sufficient strength to provoke the West into redeploying its forces and consequently disrupting the overall pattern of defence.

The fact that nothing of a really serious nature has occurred since the 1948 blockade has not lulled the West into a false sense of security; it was evident that there was more to come.

First move?

IN yesterday's China Mail, we posed the question, "Is this the first move?" when dealing with the new East German law concerning aircraft flying over the Eastern sector.

The occupying power claims that the law will not affect military or commercial aircraft flying along the three corridors to Berlin. If it does not apply to these services, then to what does it apply?

We may be mistaken but the implication is that this is a finely honed wedge, wrought in the Kremlin for the benefit of the East German Communists for the specific purpose of driving it into the latest Berlin argument.

Danger

THIS morning we are informed by the East German's Premier, Mr Ulbricht, that the Communists are currently preparing "security measures" for use when the Kremlin signs a separate peace treaty with his part of the country.

The pressure is therefore increasing and the British Foreign Secretary, Lord Home, warns that the next six months will be England's most dangerous period since the end of World War II.

This considered opinion cannot be taken too lightly and those who were old enough to remember the rising tension during the days before Munich and the events which led up to World War II, are left with the same feeling that a similar situation exists.

Mr Khrushchev has had ample warning that the West intends to maintain its position and rights in Berlin. The slightest miscalculation could well start a chain of events from which there is no recovery.

MOST DANGEROUS SIX MONTHS SINCE WAR AHEAD: LORD HOME

London, June 29. Foreign Secretary Lord Home warned a London audience today that the next six months will be England's most dangerous period since World War II.

"All our resources of diplomacy and political wisdom should be employed to try to bring co-existence with the different people of the world into reality," he told the Performing Rights Society.

"We shall be firm," he said. "We shall stand by our rights whenever those rights are just."

Brigade alerted in Kenya

Nairobi, June 29. The British Army's 24th Infantry Brigade was today reported to be maintaining a 24-hour alert to fly from Kenya to Kuwait.

Senior officers of the Brigade refused either to confirm or deny that secret orders had been signalled from London alerting this crack formation for a move to Kuwait.

But their refusal to deny these reports was taken here to mean confirmation.

The function of this Brigade is to move in to Middle East trouble-spots.

It includes battalions of the Coldstream Guards, the Buffs (East and Royal West Kent Regiment) and the King's Liverpool and Manchester Regiment, together with supporting field artillery and auxiliary units. —AFP.

SPANISH LINER TAKEN IN TOW

Caracas, June 29. The Spanish passenger ship, Begona, with 800 people aboard, was taken in tow today off the Venezuela coast after being disabled by trouble with its propeller.

Earlier today intercepted radio messages from the ship said: "We are anchored in front of the Venezuelan coast near Coro with engine trouble and a lost propeller. There is no immediate danger. Will need tugboat assistance as soon as possible."

The British tugboat Turnoil later reported it had reached the Begona and was towing it to Coro. It was expected to arrive there early on Friday.

The Turnoil is the tug that went to the assistance of the freighter Flying Enterprise some years ago. —AP.

Recorded

London, June 30. Mrs Janet Winn opened her diary at lunch-time on Thursday and found an entry written in an unfamiliar hand: "House burgled five am."

She checked and found the burglar had stolen 24 pounds from her purse while she slept. —UPI.

Iraqis open fire on supply boats

London, June 29.

Mr Chou En-lai, Communist Chinese Prime Minister, sent a message to the ruler of Kuwait today greeting the proclamation of the Sheikhdom's independence, the New China News Agency reported.

This is an indication that Peking is apparently supporting Kuwait's opposition to Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's claim to the little Persian Gulf country and its riches.

The report quoted Mr Chou as saying: "May the people of Kuwait achieve further success in safeguarding national independence and building their country."

It was earlier reported from Kuwait today that Iraqi patrol boats opened fire on Persian motor launches taking food from Abadan to Kuwait across the Shatt-el-Arab, the stretch of water at the head of the Persian Gulf.

The launches were trying to take food across despite an Iraqi ban.

Britain was today reported to have dispatched warships to Kuwait to protect the refinery there.

Reports reaching Tehran from Abadan said two British frigates were expected at Kuwait tomorrow.

The frigates Yarmouth and Landfall left Hongkong for Singapore earlier today, arousing speculation that they were heading for the Kuwait area.

Sailing

The British frigate Loch Ruthven cut short her visit to Mombasa today and sailed for an undisclosed destination. Naval sources said in Mombasa.

There was no official confirmation to reports that the frigate was sailing for Kuwait. The Tehran newspaper Keyhan said today that the Iraqis opened fire in Kuwait waters and not in Iranian territorial waters.

The newspaper, quoting Abadan customs officials, said the crews of the launches claimed that Iraqi gunboats are "causing difficulties" for Iranian ships.

NEW TROPICAL DEPRESSION

A tropical depression has been spotted some 550 miles to the east of Hongkong, a Royal Observatory statement said today.

The new storm is moving slowly in a west-north-westerly direction towards the southern tip of Taiwan.

A trough extends westwards from this depression across the northern part of the China Sea to Hainan.

Herb Fallis on way back to Hongkong?

New York, June 29.

Former Hongkong nightclub operator Herbert E. Fallis, given a suspended five-year sentence in a Federal Court yesterday, had dropped out of sight today but was assumed to be on his way back to Hongkong.

After being placed on probation yesterday when he pleaded guilty to conspiring to hide an $87,000 shipment of gold bullion, Fallis asked and received permission from probation officers to return to Hongkong.

He will have to report to them each time he leaves or enters the United States during the next five years.

The bullion, which Fallis said he had intended to smuggle into Bombay, where it would be tripled in value on the blackmarket, has been impounded by the United States. Legal steps to declare it forfeit have begun. —UPI.

Angry mother chews off hawk's ear

Rangoon, June 30.

An angry mother in Henzada chewed off the ear of a hawk seller for allegedly cheating her daughter of 20 Pyas (HK$1.80).

Ma Ohn Yin claimed that her eight-year-old child tendered a 25 Pya piece when buying five Pyas worth of hawk. But she was given only five Pyas change.

The hawk insisted the girl tendered only 10 Pyas.

The two women came to blows. During the melee the child's mother chewed off the ear of the hawk. —AP.

'SPACE SHIP' 5,000 YEARS OLD

Cairo, June 29. The world's oldest "space ship," built 5,000 years ago to put Pharaoh Cheops himself into orbit, passed the seventh anniversary of its discovery without celebration.

The 147-foot solar boat was found on May 28, 1954, where the Pharaoh had buried it at the foot of its contemporary, the Great Pyramid of Giza.

As envisaged by its builders, the solar boat was to transport the spirit of the Pharaoh to outer space and carry it on an eternal orbit with Ra, the sun disc.

To boost the solar boat into space, magic was to be used instead of rockets and fuel. —UPI.

Plot for revolt is found

Istanbul, June 29.

General Cemal Gursel's regime has uncovered a "bloody" plot timed for next month's referendum on the constitution, it was announced here tonight.

An official communiqué said counter-revolutionaries had planned a "new bloody move." The referendum is due to be held on July 9.

General Gursel came to power when he overthrew the regime of Mr Adnan Menderes, former Prime Minister — one of the members of the former government and National Assembly now standing trial — in a bloodless coup on May 27, 1960.

Swoops

Mr Nasir Zeytinoglu, Minister of the Interior said here earlier today about 400 suspected Communists have been arrested in recent police swoops.

The Communist Party is banned in Turkey. Mr Zeytinoglu said those arrested had infiltrated various organisations.

The communiqué said a man named Ahmet Ciftel was detained three days ago. He was alleged to have been carrying pamphlets "inciting people to kill each other for those now on trial."

This was believed here to be a reference to members of the former Menderes regime now being tried at Yassı Island.

CHILDREN DIE IN BOMB BLAST

Constantine, June 29. Five children were killed and 15 injured last night when a terrorist threw a bomb into a cinema at Gallieni, a small village near Guelma, it was learned here today.

The incident occurred as an officially-sponsored educational film for children was being shown in the cinema. —AFP.

213 DEAD, 243 INJURED, 182 MISSING

Torrential rains in Japan abate

Tokyo, June 30.

The torrential rains, which triggered the season's most devastating floods in the western, central and Kanto sections of Honshu, abated early today but the weather bureau warned that more rains may come later in the day.

The Philippines was also warned of new storms. The Central Meteorological Agency said in a 3 am weather bulletin that it was still raining heavily in the mountain areas of Chubu (central Japan) but had stopped in other areas, which had been reeling under six days of almost steady downpours.

FINLAND'S PREMIER RESIGNS

Helsinki, June 29.

The Finnish Prime Minister, Mr Vilho Sukselainen, tonight tendered his resignation, the Finnish news agency reported.

Mr Sukselainen was yesterday found guilty of administrative irregularities in his capacity as Director-General of the Board of the Finnish State Pensions Institution.

The court ordered him to be dismissed from his post on the board and found 10 other board members guilty of similar charges. —Reuters.

Moves up

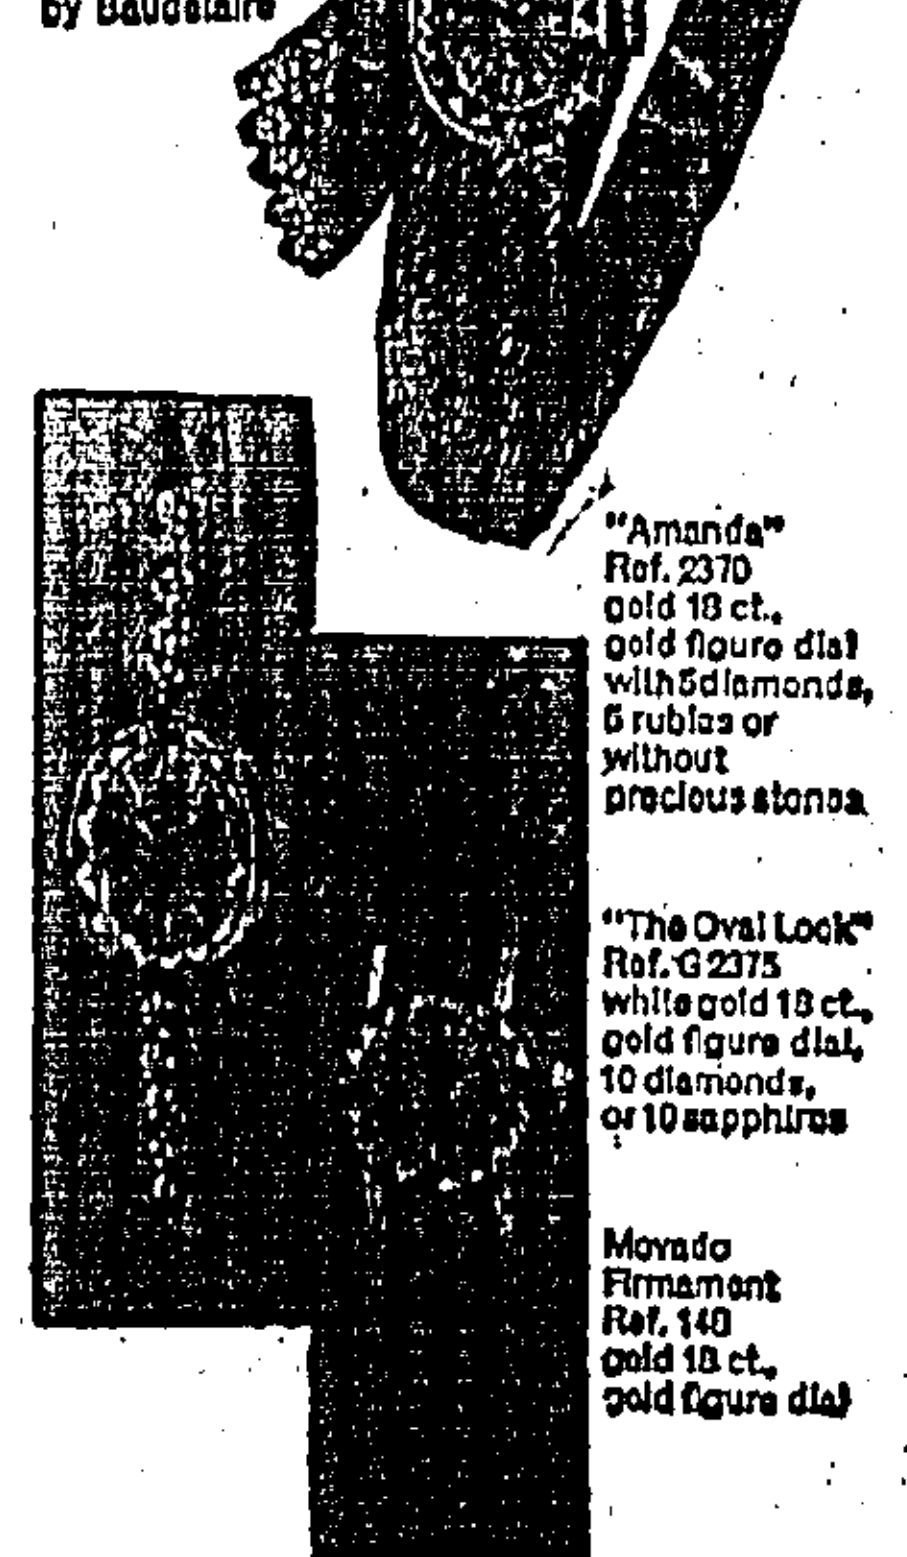

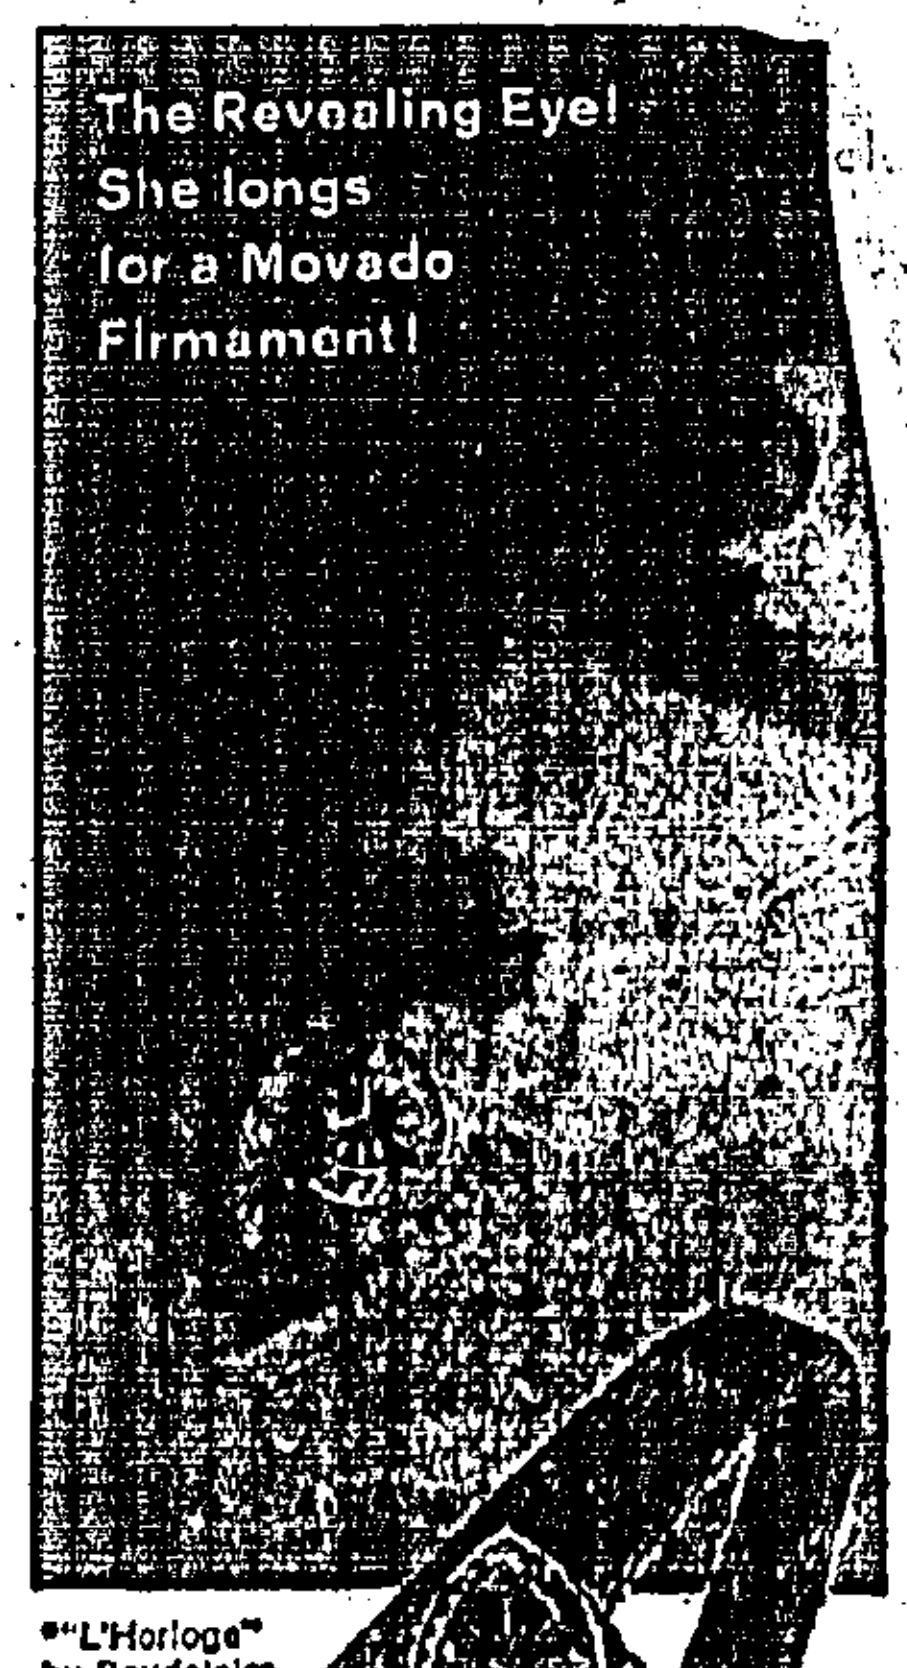

It said the low pressure front that had moved up to the Kanto area on Wednesday to give the area a merciless drenching, drifted southwards today to the central area.

This accounted for heavy rain that was falling in the mountain areas there.

The Agency said the Kanto section would be free of widespread downpours today but warned of the possibility of heavy sporadic rains.

The National Police Agency revised its casualty figures, scaling down the earlier announced 219 dead figures to 213, but raised the missing from the early figure of 170 to 182. It listed, in addition, 243 injured.

It announced the property damages as: 612 houses destroyed, 770 houses partly destroyed, 370 houses washed away, 201,042 houses flooded. —UPI.

from
Sennet Freres
Jewellers since 1870
5 Pedder Street

NAVY SAYS LATEST LAUNCHING A PROTOTYPE

U.S. plans navigation by satellite system

Washington, June 29. The U.S. Navy said today that the triple satellite shot into orbit from Cape Canaveral during the night "looks like the most successful launch we have had."

One of the satellites has been described as the first operational prototype of the Navy's planned satellite navigation system, expected to be operational late next year.

The plan calls for four satellites to be spaced in orbit so that ships, planes and submarines can receive navigation signals "axes" accurate to within an unprecedented one-tenth of a mile.

'HOPEFUL'

Vice Admiral John Hayward, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Development, told reporters at a press conference today that the success of the experiment made him hopeful that the Navy's system would be the first operational satellite system in the world. The Navy hoped its satellite navigation system would be in operation by late this year, he said.

The three satellites sent, including one with the nuclear generator, passed over Cuba shortly after launching, Admiral Hayward said.

CIRCLING GLOBE

He said that if anything had gone wrong with the launching, the package might well have fallen in Cuba. But he discounted all possibility that the nuclear generator would have represented any radiation hazard.

Admiral Hayward told the press conference, at the Defense Department, that the satellite passed over Cuba, Brazil and the length of South America. The satellites sent aloft last night are circling the globe once every 104 minutes, he added.—Reuter.

TEST FOR PEACE OR WAR NOT FAR AWAY—DE GAULLE

Neuchateau, June 29. President Charles de Gaulle said on arriving here this evening on the second day of his tour of eastern France: "I cannot believe that anybody wants war, that is to say, the destruction of our species".

Frenchman's joke may mean jail

Paris, June 29. A young Frenchman who put on a mask and mimicked President de Gaulle today found himself facing a possible year in jail and a fine of 200,000 new Francs (about £14,300).

These are the maximum sentences for "outrage towards Head of the State" with which he was charged.

The man, a 29-year-old pottery artist, is alleged to have driven up the Champs Elysees in the back of an open taxi wearing his mask and officer's hat, waving to people and shouting: "I understand you, Frenchmen and Frenchwomen."—Reuter.

'PEASANTS' REVOLT'

Farm leaders meet Premier

Paris, June 29. French farm leaders tonight met the Prime Minister, M. Michel Debre, to discuss ways of helping agriculture, as the "Peasants' Revolt" continued in many areas despite yesterday's truce call.

Also attending the roundtable meeting were top government farm experts, the Finance Minister, M. Wilfrid Baumgartner, and the Agriculture Minister, M. Henri Rochereau—whose home in western France was badly damaged by a bomb explosion today.

The truce in the revolt was called by the National Council of the French Farmers Federation as a gesture to ease the climate for today's Paris meeting. M. Debre had warned he would call off the meeting unless agitation ceased.

HIGHER COUNCIL

The farm leaders were expected to ask the government to set up a higher council of agriculture to control government farm policy. They claim falling

FIRE ON SHIP LOADED WITH EXPLOSIVE

Philadelphia, June 29. The Polish merchantman, Polonica, its hold filled with explosive industrial naphthalene, caught fire here today, sending crew and coxswain scurrying for the relative safety of the quayside.

The Polonica was towed out to sea by a tug, but one of towing cables broke and the drifting merchantman went aground on a sandbank in the River Delaware, close to the town of Camden, New Jersey.

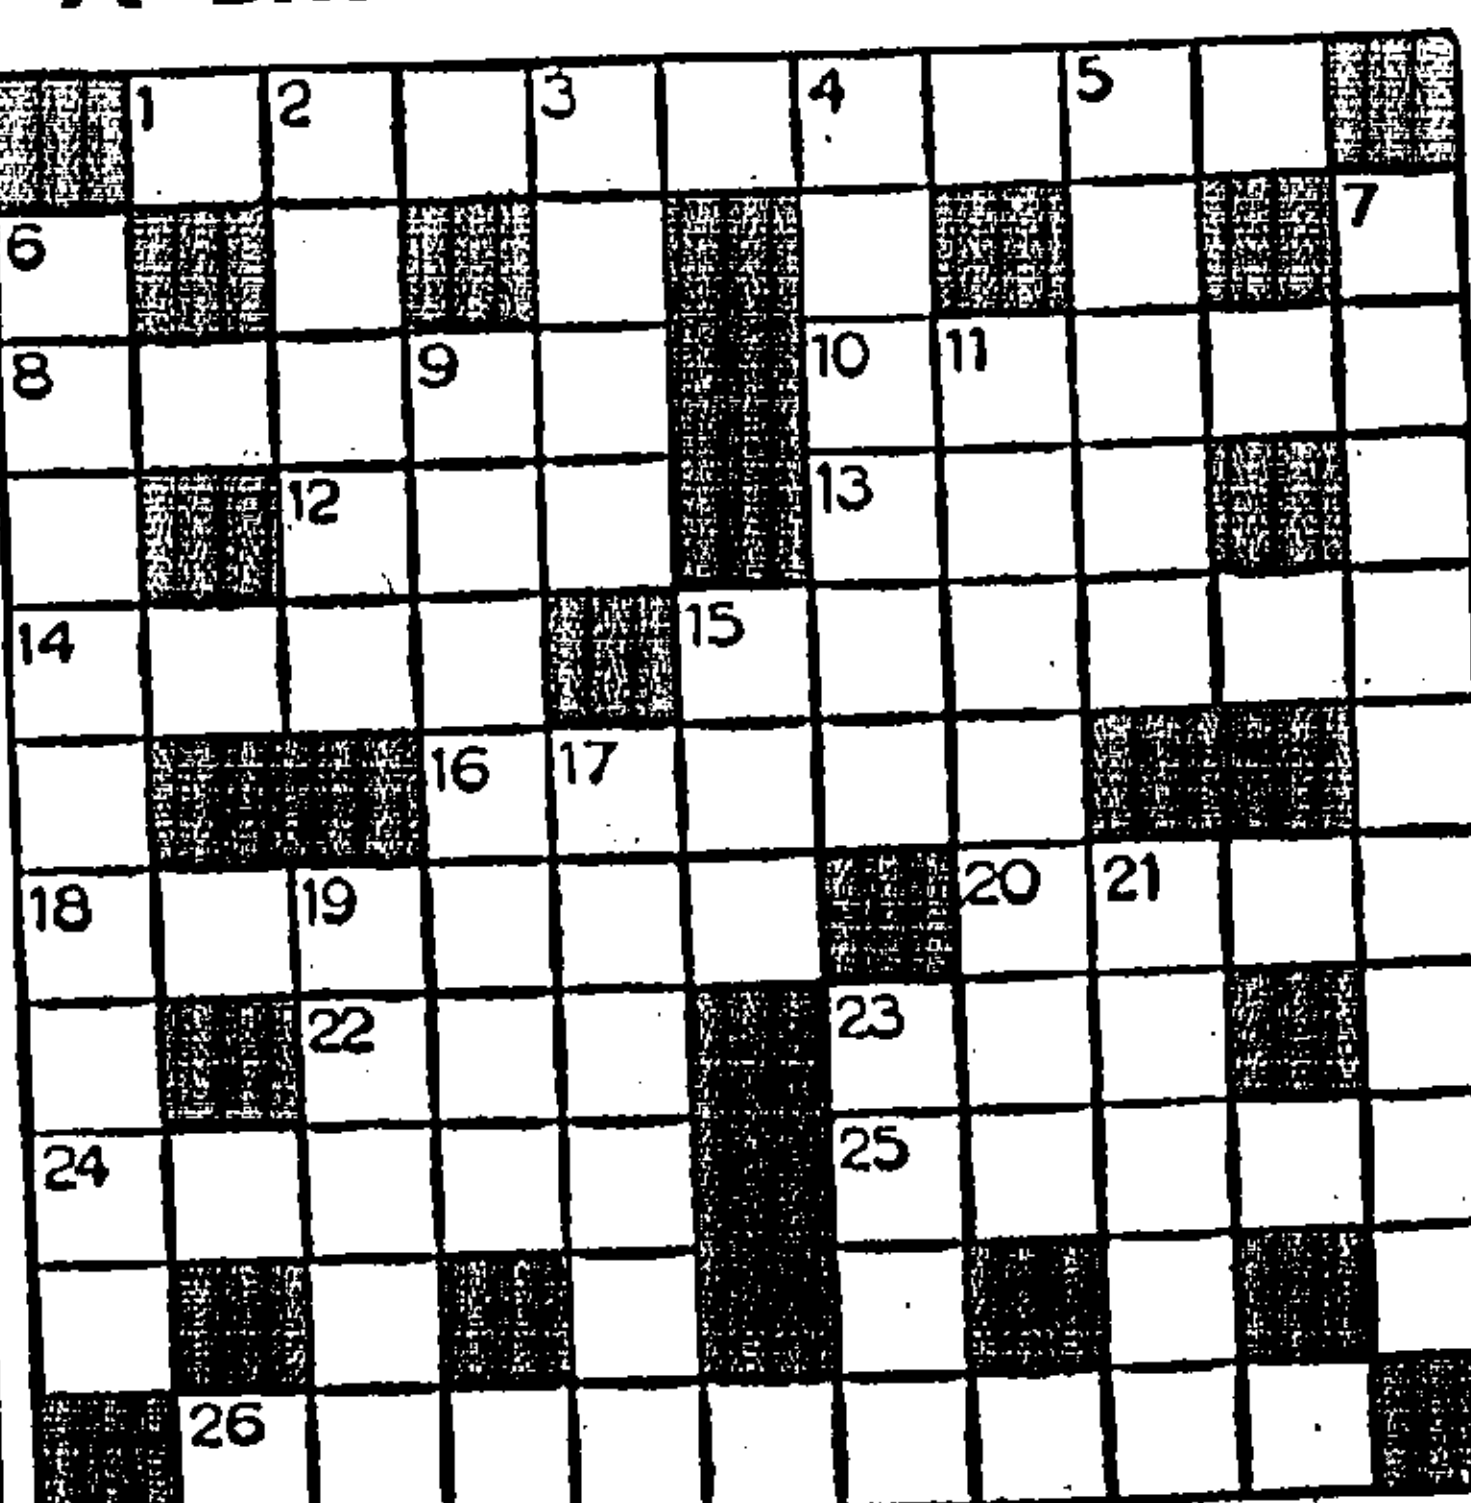

Fire launched fought the blaze on the ship whose chief engineer had remained aboard with an electrician, ready to leave at the first sign of the flames reaching the cargo.

Because of the danger of an explosion, police closed Camden's waterfront to the public.—AFP.

prices are ruining small farmers, especially in Brittany where the "revolt" began. Reports of new farmers' demonstrations poured in from many areas of northern and southern France today. Last night's truce call had specifically excluded "demonstrations which are already prepared."—Reuter.

San Quentin, California, June 29. Ronald Rittger, 25, who grew up in California criminal institutions and ultimately knifed a fellow inmate to death, was executed today in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber.—UPI.

A British Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

- 1 Bars.
- 4 Pins down.
- 10 Gaze.
- 12 Obtained.
- 13 That man there.
- 14 Savage girl.
- 15 Penny's boy-friend?
- 16 Controls.
- 18 Parent.
- 20 Quarrel.
- 22 Inflamed.
- 23 Through.
- 24 Cool colour?
- 25 Eat away.
- 26 Drunken.

DOWN

- 2 Rule.
- 3 Be quiet!
- 4 Dignitary.
- 5 Vagrant vessel?
- 6 Heavenly swimmer?
- 7 Horror-struck.
- 9 Abhorred.
- 11 I've got a horse?
- 15 Jalopy?
- 17 Save!
- 18 Rubbish.
- 21 Clubs for housewives?
- 23 Chime.

YESTERDAY'S CROSSWORD—Across: 1 Part, 4 Puff, 6 Lure, 8 Ever, 11 Leaf, 13 Related, 14 Lad, 16 Salad, 18 Vivid, 21 Rowdy, 22 Caden, 24 Dew, 25 Tenders, 26 Stew, 30 So-so, 31 Area, 32 Turn, 33 User. Down: 1 Peer, 3 Reel, 3 Bales, 4 Feet, 5 Fond, 7 Cedar, 9 Venice, 10 Rabid, 12 Flaw, 15 Adders, 17 Loads, 19 Vows, 20 Dolor, 23 Sewer, 24 Dolt, 26 Sons, 27 Goat, 29 Ton.

Calf born with two heads

Adelaide, June 29. A freak calf with two perfectly shaped and almost identical heads was born yesterday on Mr Ron Hutchinson's farm at Moblong, near Murray Bridge, about 60 miles from Adelaide.

The calf, whose mother is a pedigree Friesian, lived for only a few minutes.

Mr Hutchinson has placed it in a local freezer to await scientific examination.—China Mail Special.

POST FOR TONY

London, June 29. Mr Anthony Armstrong-Jones was today named artistic adviser to the architects and decoration magazine "Design". Mr Armstrong-Jones left his job as a photographer when he married Princess Margaret, and has taken an unpaid job on the Council For Industrial Design, for whom he recently helped design an elaborate bird-house.—AFP.

B.O.A.C. STRIKE ENDING

London, June 29. A go-slow strike involving 3,000 men at London Airport showed signs of an early settlement tonight.

The men—all British Overseas Airways Corporation employees—had begun working to rule during the afternoon in support of 290 corporation electricians on strike since last Monday over the dismissal of nine colleagues.

The dispute had today caused nine incoming and outgoing international flights to be grounded.

MEETING

Tonight, after a long meeting of union leaders, management representatives and a Ministry of labour conciliation officer, a statement said that "understandings have been reached with the various parties concerned, which, it is expected, will lead to an early resumption of work at London Airport."—Reuter.

Battle of the Bible begins

London, June 29. The "Battle of the Bible" between the Queen's Printers and the University Presses of Oxford and Cambridge has come out into the open with the publication here of a paper-back edition of the Gospel according to St John taken from the new English Bible.

The one shilling Gospel was published by Ayre and Spottiswood, the Queen's Printers, who claim they have a right under the Royal patent to publish "any edition in any language of the Bible that may be made."

But the University Presses, who recently published the revolutionary new translation of the Bible, claim that they, and they alone, hold the copyright of the translation.

COPYRIGHT

They say they hold the copyright because the new English Bible is not the older authorised version.

But Eyre and Spottiswood Chairman, Colonel O. E. Crosthwaite Eyre, said that while his firm's action in publishing the Gospel according to St John would normally be a "flagrant breach of the copyright," they were sure that the Royal patent overrode the Copyright Act.—China Mail Special.

Time Pieces of Unmatched Elegance

SARCAR

SOLE AGENTS SHIRO CHINA LTD

up to 40 M.P.G.

4 door 4 speed

ford

Get your money's worth!

$10,200 including first registration tax

WALLACE HARPER & CO.

Paris RESTAURANT & NIGHT-CLUB

The Management Proudly Presents

JAYE DANVERS

Direct from her Record-Breaking Tour of Europe

Cha-Cha and Fan Dancing Sensational Spanish Mambo,

Two shows Nightly at 11.00 p.m. & 1.00 a.m.

ELECTRIFYING! VERSATILE!

SHAW'S BUILDING NATHAN ROAD, KOWLOON, H.K. (OFF BROADWAY THEATRE)

RESERVATION PHONE 57701 52476 804972

KING'S BROADWAY
TEL. 25313 TEL. 52525
NOW SHOWING — 2ND BIG WEEK!
AT 2.30, 5.10, 7.30 & 9.45 P.M.
(Please note change of times)

THEY WERE SEVEN...
AND THEY FOUGHT LIKE
SEVEN HUNDRED!

YUL BRYNNER
CO-STARRING ELI WALLACH
STEVE MCQUEEN
Released by UNITED ARTISTS

THE MAGNIFICENT SEVEN

ROYAL STATE
TEL. 80-5700 TEL. 77-3948
GRAND OPENING TO-DAY
AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

SAVAGE SENSATIONAL DRAMA!
FILMED IN THE FROZEN NORTH

Savage rite of courtship never filmed before

ANTHONY QUINN

Rank Organisation presentation

THE SAVAGE INNOCENTS

YOKO TANI ... TECHNICOLOR ...

CAPITOL LIBERTY
TO-DAY
at 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 p.m.
A TOHO PRODUCTION
Starring TOSHIRO MIFUNE
A Spectacle of Love & Intrigue

Daredevil in the Castle

In English Dialogue
Eastman Color
Stereophonic Sound

Special Show at CAPITOL
To-morrow at 12.30 p.m.
"HELL BENT FOR LEATHER"

THE GOLDEN PHOENIX
NIGHTCLUB AND RESTAURANT
1st Fl., Manson House, Nathan Road, Kowloon

Proudly Presents Two Top Star Attractions!

AMERICA'S FOREMOST SINGING & DANCING STAR
LINDA FONTANETTE
Direct from Hollywood for the first time in Hong Kong

NORMAN ROSS
London's most popular entertainer and TRIO LAS VEGAS
the three gorgeous girls from LONDON'S "TALK OF THE TOWN"

Music by: Ponching Garcia and The Dynamic Dancers. Vocals by: Bobbie Lee.

FOR RESERVATIONS PHONE 68305

British Govt under fire

London, June 29. The Daily Sketch, popular right-wing daily national newspaper, in a full-page editorial yesterday called on the British Government to tell the public what is happening economically to the nation.

Under the heading "Tell 'The People'!" it declared: "It does not need a doctor to spot the malaise that underlies the news of unrest and bewilderment in Britain.

"The Government must put an end to its contemptuous attitude of 'You've had your vote, you've had your lot'."

It quoted from a letter in the previous day's issue of the Times, independent national newspaper, from Mr W. Lionel Fraser, a leading British businessman, who declared:

"The Government should present a plan of progress. We want something to go for. As a nation we are beginning to lack inspiration and purpose.

"The Government needs to tell the people what is going on to give them interest and a sense of partnership in their country's welfare."—China Mail Special.

Marilyn Monroe operated on

New York, June 29. Marilyn Monroe tonight had a successful operation for the removal of her gallbladder, a hospital spokesman announced.

"Miss Monroe is fine and she has been taken back to her room," he said after the operation.

"We expect everything to be normal. Gradually she will get better and we expect to have Miss Monroe in hospital for ten to 12 days which is the normal confinement period for this sort of case."

It had earlier been announced that the operation would be for the removal of gallstones.—Reuter.

Queen's plans were upset

Glasgow, June 29. Official plans for the Queen to inspect "typical slums" here tomorrow were upset today by housewives who began sprucing up their homes and whitewashing the walls.

A Glasgow corporation official said: "We were so anxious to show the Queen a typical Gorbals home in its normal state, but the trouble is we had to give the people some warning, and now of course they are laying on the whitewash."

The Queen will visit part of the Gorbals "slumland" on the south side of the city and a new estate built to re-house former Gorbals residents.—China Mail Special.

British Navy switches venue for Nato training

Portland, Dorset, June 29. Training of Nato officers in anti-submarine warfare is to be switched from this important south coast port to Portsmouth, the British Admiralty said here.

The announcement came three months after the conviction of three men and two women for spying at the Admiralty's Portland Underwater Weapons Research Establishment.

But the Admiralty denied that the switch was for security reasons.

Nato officers coming to Britain who would previously have been taught at HMS Osprey, the Navy's anti-submarine training base here — will now train at HMS Vernon, a similar base at Portland.

Both "ships" are land bases.

OVERLOADED

An Admiralty spokesman explained that recent developments at the Osprey had reached a pitch where the facilities had become overloaded.

"All new frigates go to Portland for their initial working up, and this programme is now going full steam ahead," said the spokesman.

"The navy's helicopter anti-submarine training school, which is also based at Portland, is also working at full stretch.

"There is no question of shutting any foreign naval officers out of Osprey. If they have any business there they will still be admitted," he said.

About 40 officers from other Nato countries come to Britain each year for training by the British Navy in hunting submarines.—China Mail Special.

Two seamen charged with importing gold

Two seamen appeared before Mr Derek Cons at Central Magistrate's Court this morning on a charge of importing $55,000 worth of gold without a permit.

They are Wong Yiu, 30, coxswain, of 35 Cherry-street, first floor, Tai Kok Tsui, and Cheng Ming, 49, sailor, of 72 Tak Cheong-street, fifth floor.

It is alleged that at 7.10 pm yesterday, aboard a motor junk On Lee at the Quarantine Anchorage off Stonecutter's Island, the defendants imported 44 gold bars weighing 220 taels without a permit granted by the Director of Commerce and Industry.

The defendants were remanded until next Tuesday. No plea was taken.

News from the Gazette

Messrs S. W. Clarke, F. C. Clemo, H. W. Lee and J. G. O'Donnell have been reappointed members of the Hongkong Tourist Association Board for three years.

Mr Salvador G. Zamora has been reappointed, provisionally, as Vice-Chairman for the Philippines at Hongkong.

Lieutenant A. McCallum and J. R. F. Mellish have been promoted to the rank of Lieutenant in the Hongkong Regiment.

Major J. B. Little, formerly of Hongkong Regiment, Lieutenant (2) D. A. Bussey and Lieutenant (2) H. G. W. Weidon, formerly of Hongkong Royal Naval Reserve, have been posted to the Royal Hongkong Defence Force Reserve of Officers.

Mr John Kintoch has been appointed to act as Commissioner of the Essential Services Corps and Director of Manpower during the absence of Mr I. D. Bruce.

The Rev Fr C. J. Barrett, SJ, ceased to act as Procurator in Hongkong of the English Assistance of the Jesuit Order consequent upon the return of the Rev Fr H. Dergon, SJ.

The following have been appointed members of the Standing Committee on Technical Education and Vocational Training, the Government Gazette notified yesterday:

The Commissioner of Labour (Chairman), the Director of Public Works or his representative, the Director of Commerce and Industry or his representative, Mrs Ellen L. Shau-pui, Mrs So Mook Sau-ha, Mr J. R. Leitch, Professor Sean MacKev, Mr Lam Chik-ho, Mr Ernest C. Wong, Mr Lui Pak-kei, Mr Sung Shung-chong, Mr Lee Jung-sen and Mr Woo Zan-dien. The secretary is to be nominated by the Director of Education.

Violence is UK censors' big problem

London, June 29. Mr John Travolyan, Secretary of the British Board of Film Censors, said here that violence — particularly juvenile violence — was the Board's foremost problem.

"We get enough criticism about what we leave in," he said.

"My goodness if the people who criticised us saw what we took out, they would be less critical."

He told a mother's union cinema and television conference here that scenes of "really nasty violence" which seemed to be in demand in most parts of the world, were "unacceptable to the great mass" of British cinema audiences.

The Board watched between 500 and 600 feature films a year, and rejected about ten.—China Mail Special.

Man jailed for snatching, having drugs

An unemployed Chinese man, Lau Tong, 35, of 83 Fa Yuan-street, was sentenced this morning to six months for snatching a gold necklace and possessing one packet of heroin and five packets of barbitone.

The defendant snatched a gold necklace from a Chinese woman Yeung Sui-tan, 23, on June 27 at Pei Ho-street.

On June 28 Detectives, acting on information, arrested the defendant at his home in Mongkok.

Defendant admitted snatching the necklace and said he sold it for $150 to a goldsmith's shop.

He had the drugs when he was arrested.

LEE-PRINCESS

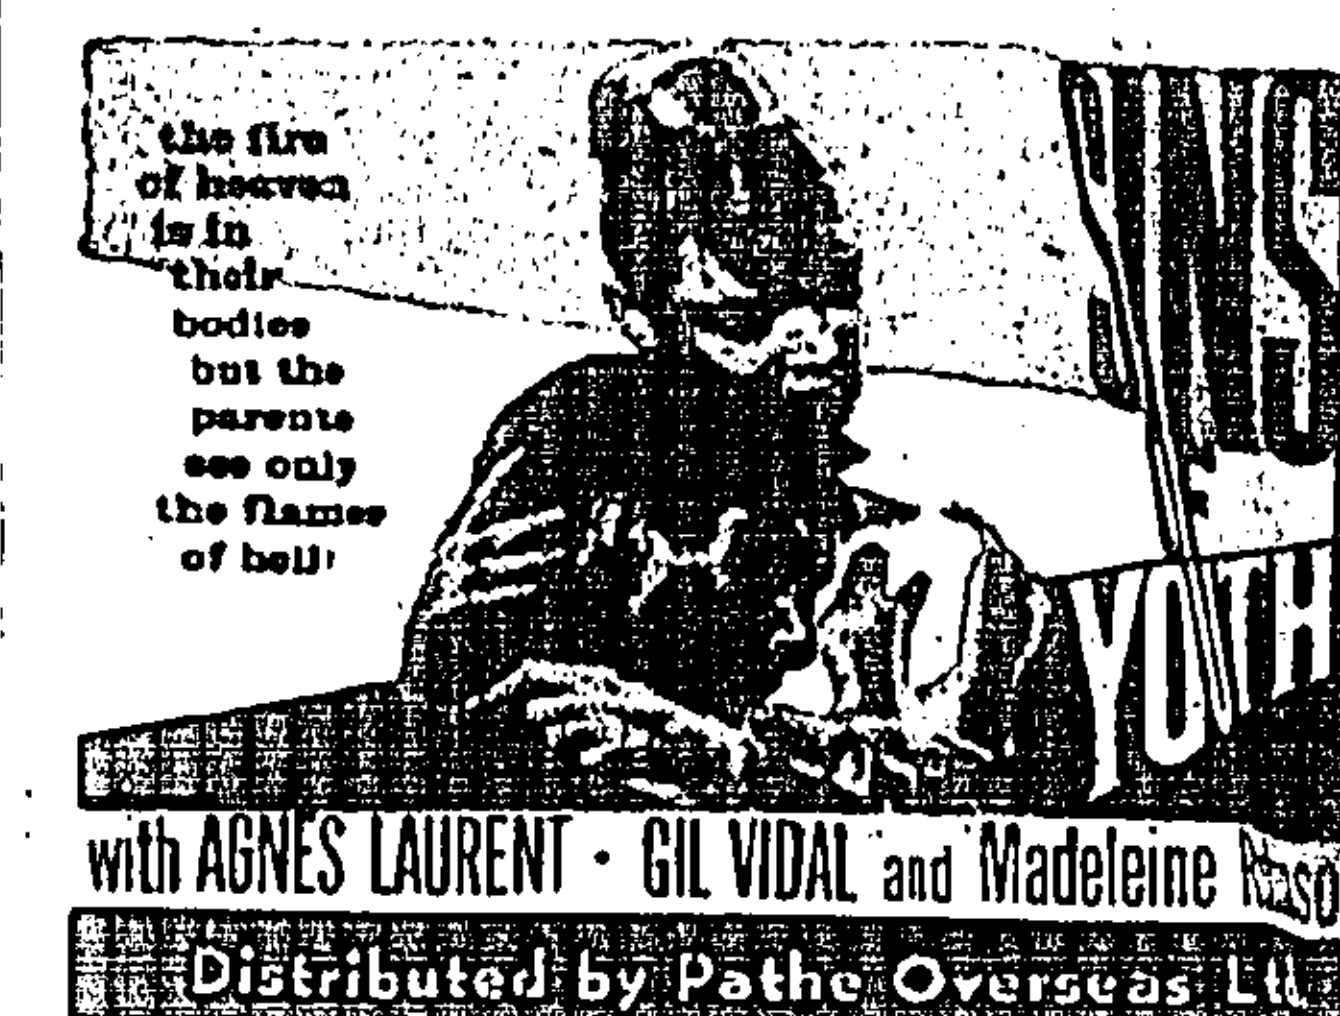

— NOW SHOWING —
At 2.30, 5.20, 7.30 & 9.40 p.m.
(Please note change of times)

PRINCESS: To-morrow at 12.30 p.m. (Reduced Prices)
Richard Widmark in "RUN FOR THE SUN" (color)

ROXY & MAJESTIC

★ FINAL SHOWING TO-DAY ★
Owing to length of picture please note change of times:
At 2.30, 5.20, 7.30 & 9.40 p.m.

ADDED ATTRACTION
"INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL IN EUROPE"

★ GRAND OPENING TO-MORROW ★
The story of daring thrills and breathtaking scenes

BOOKINGS NOW OPEN!

To-morrow Morning Shows • At Reduced Prices

ROXY: At 12.00 Noon
Carol LYNLEY in
"BLUE JEANS"
In CinemaScope

MAJESTIC: At 12.30 p.m.
Dean MARTIN
Jerry LEWIS in
"AT WAR WITH THE ARMY"

CHARMAINE BEAUTY SALON

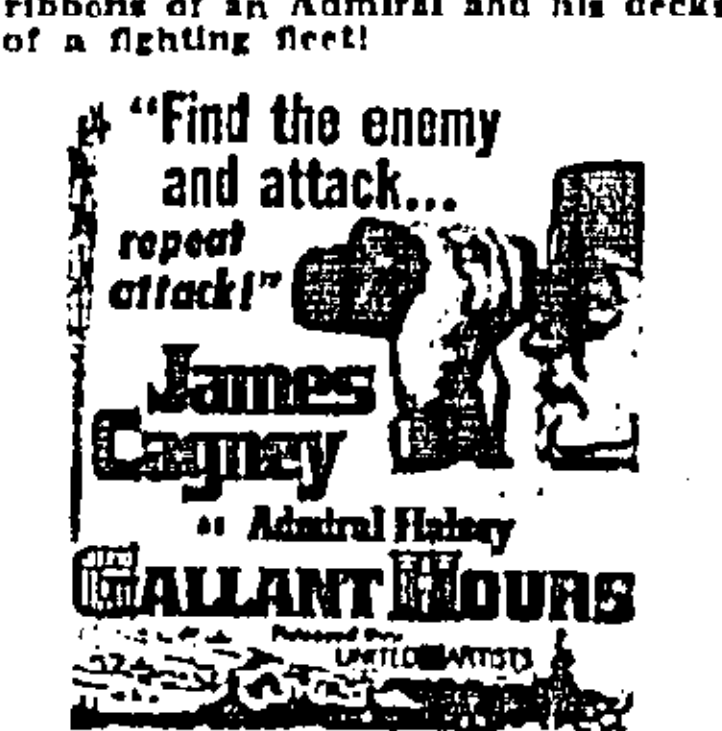

Why Pay Fancy Prices

Try Mrs. Wong's experienced hair stylists & beauticians

4, Bristol Avenue, Kowloon. Tel. 68235
(opp. Carnarvon & Astor Hotels)

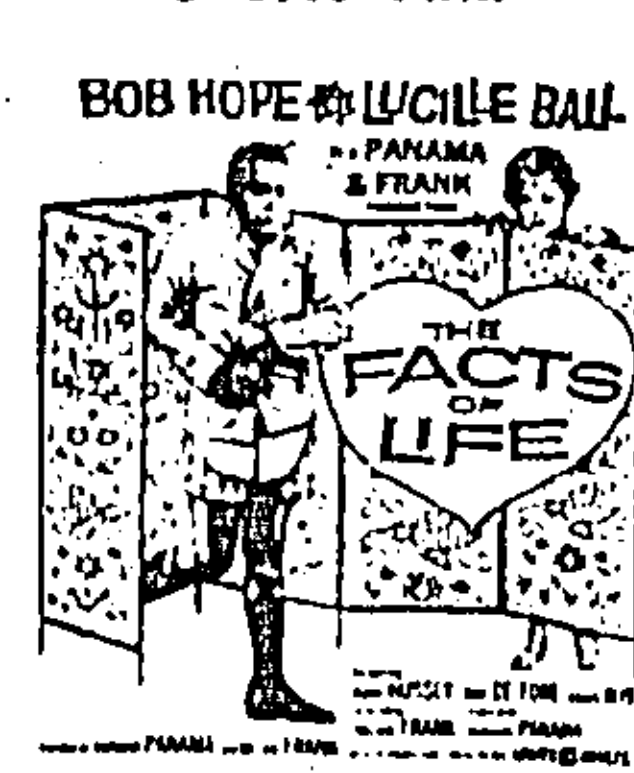

ORIENTAL RITZ

OPENING TO-DAY
At 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 p.m.

To-Morrow Morning Show
VICTOR MATURE in
"THE BIG CIGAR"
CinemaScope & Technicolor

SHOWING TO-DAY
At 2.30, 5.20, 7.30 & 9.40 P.M.

To-morrow Morning Show
"GUNFIGHTERS"

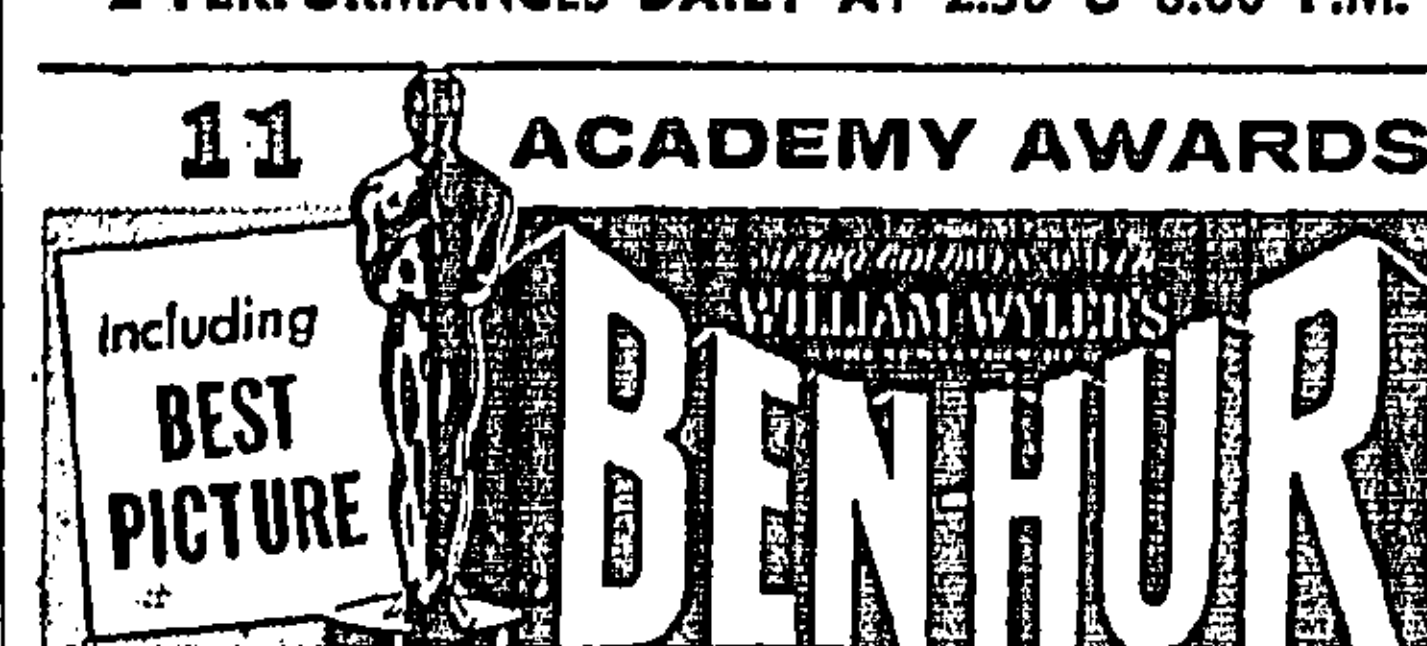

SAVE A LIFE BECOME A BLOOD DONOR

The British Red Cross Blood Collecting Centre

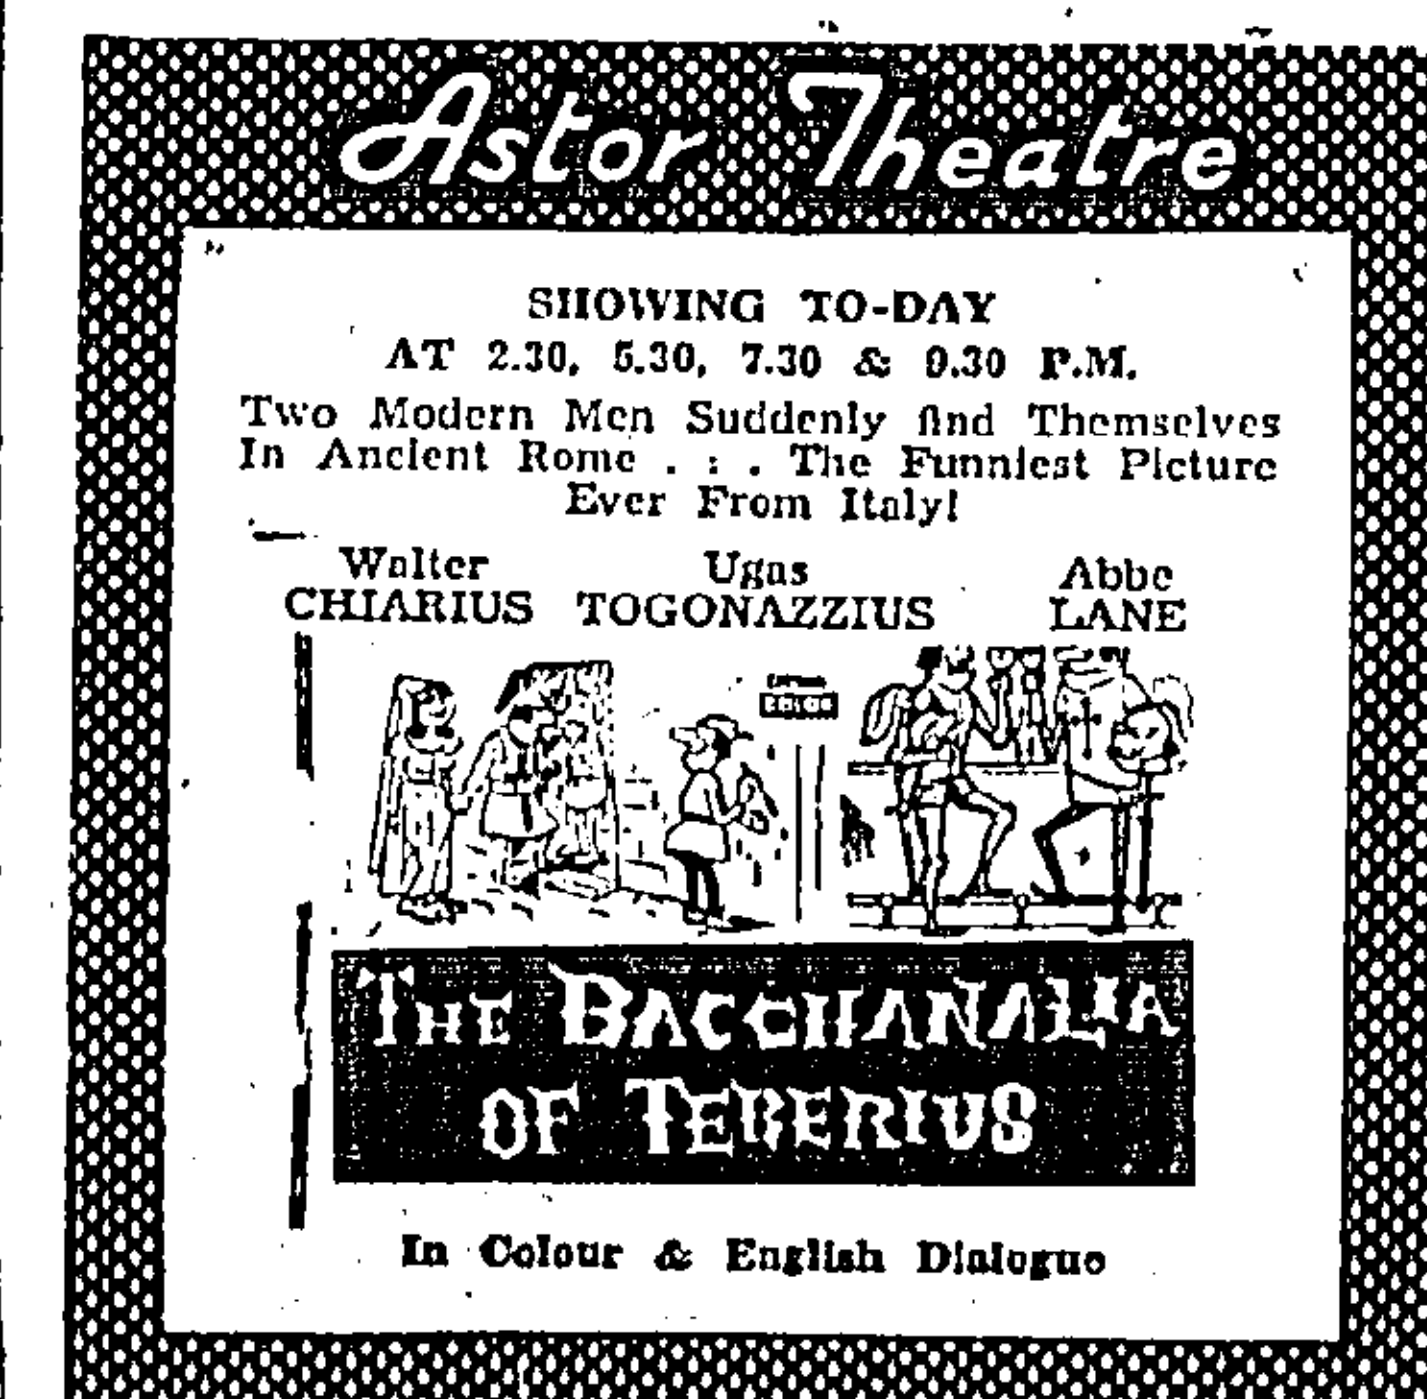

8th Floor, Fung House, Connaught Road, Central.
Tel. 27698.

HOOVER GALA

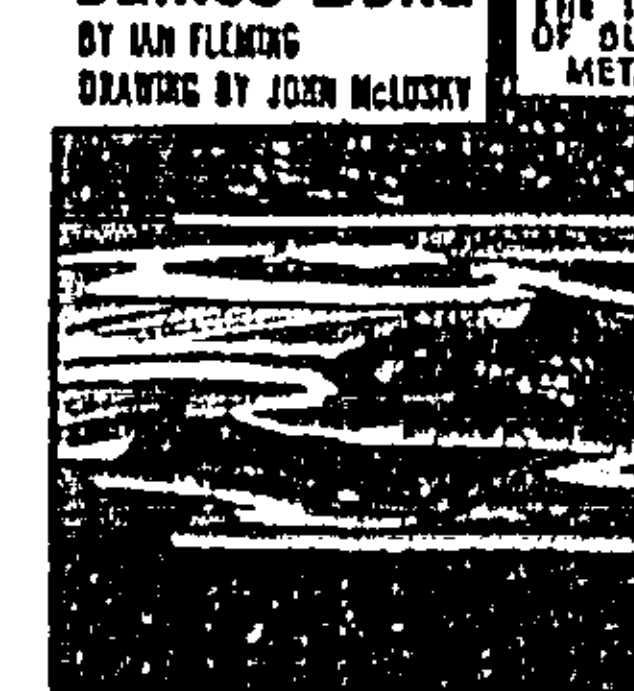

TEL 72371 TEL 52979
— NOW SHOWING —
2 PERFORMANCES DAILY AT 2.30 & 8.00 P.M.

Starring
Charlton Heston — Jack Hawkins — Haya Harareet
Technicolor! Photographed in Camera 65!
Magnetic Stereophonic 4 Sound Tracks at Hoover
4-Hours Entertainment! Admission: $2.40—$6.00

James Bond

THE TORMENT OF GOURMET

AND LATER

DRIVE EM

NOTE... It costs $308.40* less to FLY Canadian Pacific TO NORTH AMERICA

SEE YOUR TRAVEL AGENT OR Canadian Pacific AIRLINES

*Based on return economy fare.

Thomas Wiseman's LIMELIGHT

The tough core at the heart of sweet Miss Nuyen

MISS FRANCE NUYEN said that she hardly ever ate anything, which was why it was so important to eat in a congenial atmosphere.

She surveyed the decor of the restaurant and decided it would do. She would just have some finely chopped vegetables. Nothing else.

On second thoughts, was the caviare very salty? It wasn't? She'd have some of that, then— with the chopped vegetables.

And some fresh orange juice. But freshly squeezed there and then she did not want to drink old orange juice that had been squeezed an hour ago.

And with the caviare, only the chopped white of egg, not the yolk. And what was the zest tartare like? She'd have some of that, too. And strawberries to follow.

And, oh yes, did they have this marvellous wine? She'd written the name of it down because it was the best wine, and she only drank the best wine.

Not difficult

While the gentleman from 20th Century-Fox, who was taking us to lunch, ate his order, Miss Nuyen noted that there was no fish whatsoever in the menu. But she was a difficult girl to get along with. Quite the contrary.

Arrested—the man who introduced me to nut-fudge malted milk

By JOHN MONKS

ON the card he handed me at San Francisco airport was printed, "Irvin C. Scarbeck—U.S. State Department," but the smiling American with the soft Bronx accent said: "Just call me 'Doc'."

The friendly "Doc" Scarbeck, the U.S. diplomat charged with seeing that Communist spies did not get into the country, was smiling at me as he handed me the card. "I'm a nut-fudge malted milk man," he said.

That was on May 18, 1958 and after stepping off the plane from Honolulu, I was being given the V.I.P. rush through baggage check by the man from the State Department.

"Have a drink?" said Doc. So after my all-night flight, and before breakfast, he had ordered "two of the usual"—two nut-fudge malted milks.

"I have these every time I come to this airport," Doc told me, and that, he explained, was almost daily, as he welcomed foreign V.I.P.s, students, and State Department guests.

Through San Francisco every year pass hundreds of foreigners seeing the U.S. at State Department expense.

Every week dozens of students from Asia fly in to the West Coast and, during his two years in San Francisco, keen, hard-working Doc tried to meet them all. That morning in the airport parking lot Doc Scarbeck showed me his proudest possession—a long, black Cadillac he had bought the night before.

"Would you like to have a drive—It's a dream," he said.

After my first nut-fudge malted milk, and my first drive in a Cadillac, Doc Scarbeck drove me round the California-style ranch-houses that surround San Francisco and said: "This is the most beautiful city in the world. I'm from New York, but there is no other city like this."

For the next four months I saw a good deal of Doc Scarbeck, visited him and his German-born wife Karen at their neat comfortable home not far from the airport, and met them at embassy parties.

The Scarbecks were the friends of San Francisco's top people. Doc's whole time was spent in arranging for foreigners to be taken into typical U.S. homes, entertained, driven on sightseeing tours.

Then, in June 1959 Doc was awarded a State Department decoration.

His citation read: "For meritorious service, loyalty and devotion to duty."

That was how Irvin C. Scarbeck stood with his country before he was arrested and handcuffed by G-men in a Washington street after being ordered to return from his post as second secretary at the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw.

And around the world many friends of America will remember Doc, and their first nut-fudge malted milk.

—(London Express Service).

Miss Nuyen can be very vehement when she tries, and she was being very vehement.

Her enemies

"Those people," she said, disdainfully lumping together all her enemies. But refusing to identify them, "those people can only be dealt with if you treat them as the stupid and ignorant people that they are. People who always carry a rope to hang people—they hang themselves. Touch wood."

Miss Nuyen is a young woman whose coyness, of demureness is sometimes belied by what one might call the sophistication of her utterances.

When I pointed this out to her, she retorted that she was more naive than she sometimes seemed. But she had learned a lot in the last couple of years: in fact, she felt that she had learned so much about human nature that she felt 4,000 years old.

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Miss Nuyen offered me this insight into her character.

"Other film actresses," she said, "live the sort of lives that will interest the public. I live the sort of life that will interest me. I do NOT live my life to make a career."

Picture by MICHAEL WARD

FRANCE NUYEN

'People thought I was some kind of monster and did not want to employ me'

Joan sat that one out, she didn't apologise, and I didn't talk to her. But when that marriage ended there seemed no talk to her.

"One could hardly go on being offended on behalf of a husband one had divorced."

change his mind? I dunno. Maybe the money wasn't as good."

Rattigan—

a new play

TERENCE RATTIGAN has been telling me about a play he is writing for television. It will exploit the medium in a rather ingenious way.

The story concerns a Prime Minister with a past, and the action of the play covers the period before and during a sort of Face to Face TV interview with him.

"In this way," said Rattigan, "one can exploit all the television paraphernalia, and also one can end up with something that is heaven-sent to a dramatist: a 20-minute duel between the two principal characters, which would take place in the course of the television interview."

Mr Rattigan, whose Left wing views receive scant publicity, once promised to write a scathing play about a Tory politician. This play may well be it.

—(London Express Service).

Priests are

box-office

MR LEO McCAREY was probably the first Hollywood director to perceive that priests and nuns could be box-office.

He cast Bing Crosby as a priest in The Bells of St Mary and Going My Way, but drew the line when Bob Hope said he, too, wanted to put on a cassock and dog-collar.

"Most Hollywood actors," said Mr McCarey, "seem to have this desire to play a priest. Bogart did—and so did Frank Sinatra. William Holden is going to play one in my new film."

"But told me that one time he was actually seriously thinking of being a priest instead of an actor. What made him change his mind? I dunno. Maybe the money wasn't as good."

Rattigan—

a new play

TERENCE RATTIGAN has been telling me about a play he is writing for television. It will exploit the medium in a rather ingenious way.

The story concerns a Prime Minister with a past, and the action of the play covers the period before and during a sort of Face to Face TV interview with him.

"In this way," said Rattigan, "one can exploit all the television paraphernalia, and also one can end up with something that is heaven-sent to a dramatist: a 20-minute duel between the two principal characters, which would take place in the course of the television interview."

Mr Rattigan, whose Left wing views receive scant publicity, once promised to write a scathing play about a Tory politician. This play may well be it.

—(London Express Service).

Priests are

box-office

MR LEO McCAREY was probably the first Hollywood director to perceive that priests and nuns could be box-office.

He cast Bing Crosby as a priest in The Bells of St Mary and Going My Way, but drew the line when Bob Hope said he, too, wanted to put on a cassock and dog-collar.

"Most Hollywood actors," said Mr McCarey, "seem to have this desire to play a priest. Bogart did—and so did Frank Sinatra. William Holden is going to play one in my new film."

"But told me that one time he was actually seriously thinking of being a priest instead of an actor. What made him change his mind? I dunno. Maybe the money wasn't as good."

Rattigan—

a new play

TERENCE RATTIGAN has been telling me about a play he is writing for television. It will exploit the medium in a rather ingenious way.

The story concerns a Prime Minister with a past, and the action of the play covers the period before and during a sort of Face to Face TV interview with him.

"In this way," said Rattigan, "one can exploit all the television paraphernalia, and also one can end up with something that is heaven-sent to a dramatist: a 20-minute duel between the two principal characters, which would take place in the course of the television interview."

Mr Rattigan, whose Left wing views receive scant publicity, once promised to write a scathing play about a Tory politician. This play may well be it.

—(London Express Service).

The price of having a stranger in the family

SHE was 17, and French, and frightened. She came off the train at Victoria with a suitcase full of home-sewn clothes and a letter full of promises, and stood around, waiting for a welcome.

This was an au pair girl, one of the thousands now coming into Britain in the summer rush, all with their necessary letters of invitation from British families, their au pair "passports." An au pair girl—not a domestic servant.

The French girl held her letter opened for people to see, and searched faces. A man and a woman came irritably along, red-faced with too much drink or too much anger.

The woman looked at the letter and said, spikily, "What are you hanging about here for? We've been waiting down there." The girl didn't answer, she couldn't speak English. But she looked frightened.

Exploited

The man said to me, for someone to talk to: "She's the ninth we've had this year. It's cost me 50 quid in agents' fees. None of them is any good."

They went off, with the girl behind, heeled over by her heavy suitcase, an innocent abroad already feeling guilty. She will, I think, be very miserable.

But she won't be alone, if the treatment of au pair girls in Britain is as unsatisfactory as the National Council of Women says it is.

The council has been complaining that some girls are exploited, cheaply treated, who servants, and now it plans with other women's organisations to protest to the Ministry of Labour.

A Swiss welfare agency in London told me:

"Fewer Swiss girls are coming to Britain this year. They've been scared off by reports in the Swiss papers about the way the girls are treated."

Mrs Elizabeth Goddard, secretary of the International Catholic Girls' Society, who knows as much about the problem as anyone, told me: "No-body knows even how many au pair girls come every year. Estimates vary between 20,000 and 40,000."

And I'd say from my experience that 10 per cent are deliberately overworked and one-third are not treated as well as they should be."

By MERRICK WINN

What goes wrong? The trouble often starts in the first moment of delighted inspiration when the British family, fed up with humping its own coat buckets, says: "Let's get a foreign girl."

This family may be kindly and considerate. But it may be unaware of the au pair code, which although unofficial is approved by the Home Office and in effect says—

The au pair girl is a daughter of the house, not a maid or servant, or even a baby-sitter. When guests come, she joins them; she does not wait at table.

She must not work for more than four to five hours a day, then light work only. She must not be asked to do anything you would not like your own daughter to be asked to do by a strange family.

When this is understood, the system works.

There will, for instance, be sadness all round when Rosi Mieg, 20, returns soon to her home in the Black Forest after a year with a doctor's family at Stanmore, Middlesex.

Rosi told me: "Every au pair girl is miserable for the first month. But for 11 months I have been happy."

And the doctor said: "I'm surprised the au pair system works as well as it does."

Ask the average British family to put up their best friend for a year and they'd think you mad. Yet they invite a girl who speaks hardly any English to live with them in a tiny house, then get puzzled when tensions arise."

The tensions come when the novelty goes. Home with a stranger is home of a different sort. All about the house foreign eyes watch, foreign ears listen.

When the family goes for an outing the girl must go too, with her irritating English. When she gets moody, as she is bound to sometimes, the up-set may be huge because the family blames itself, wrongly.

And jealousies may arise if the girl is attractive to husbands, or thinks she is.

Sometimes there are less obvious jealousies, going deeper.

Another doctor, who has a Swiss au pair girl, told me: "I've been surprised to find my wife getting jealous because she feels the girl is getting too much of the children's affection."

"Even more surprising—the girl gets jealous if I praise my wife's cooking more than hers, or if I buy something for my daughters and not her."

Lieke Landt, 18, lived in misery with a family for five months. She was "on call," if not actually working, from 7.45 am until 9 pm.

She told me: "They were nice people and I wanted to please them. But gradually they asked me to do more and more until I really felt I was a servant."

Money

And like Ackermann, 18, who goes back to Stuttgart soon, told me: "One family I went to expected me to work from seven in the morning until seven at night and eat my meals in a cafe next door."

Girls must be over 15, almost all are over 17. They get pocket money, on average 30s. a week. They can stay in Britain a year, longer if they get permits renewed.

How do you get an au pair girl? You can go to an agency where you may be asked to pay: "We've 80 families waiting and only 20 girls." The demand is great.

But the more important question is: how do you keep an au pair girl once you have her? First you have to realise that the charges of exploitation made against Britain abroad are very much exaggerated.

Then you have to prove it. —(London Express Service).

CULTURE? DAME MARGOT PREFERS BATHING

Leningrad.

THE stage lighting went wrong at the rehearsal causing Frederick Ashton, the ballet choreographer, some worrying moments.

Young ballet dancers from Britain's Royal Ballet buttoned me for news of the Test match (they have been without newspapers since they arrived two weeks ago).

Margot Fonteyn was trying to beat the humidity by organising a swimming party. "Can't we cut the culture and dive into the Gulf of Finland?" she said.

And that is what life is like at the start of the dancers' Russian tour—their first.

The choice

They are staying in the city's biggest hotel and finding that it is difficult to pass the time after the official sight-seeing tour and the rehearsals are over.

We dance a sedate fox-trot on the dance floor—actually a narrow corridor between the tables. The six-piece band plays in a polite 1920-ish style.

I am fumble-footed but Dame Margot covers up my mistakes gracefully.

"It's just like the tea dances I so adored when I was 12 years old in Shanghai," she says.

"But I'm glad there is a rehearsal to help pass this evening. What else does one do?"

What indeed? For the company it is a choice between exploring the city, lit by the summer "white nights" when it never gets really dark, or drinking vodka and Russian beer at prices their allowance cannot stand.

By Noel Goodwin

Says dancer David Blair: "I've never walked so much before. If only we could get a map to know what we are seeing or where we are going. But there are no maps."

Russians I have talked to suggest that the Royal Ballet will prove a big success at the opening tomorrow night. After seeing the rehearsal of "Quand nous étions enfants," the "strange" but interesting, the dancing impressive, and the scene design very beautiful.

"It is good to see such a young company," said one, and another admitted particularly the way "all the music is used up in the choreography"—meaning that it was never merely background music.

Dame Ninette de Valois herself puts Fonteyn and the other principal girls through a practice class in the rehearsal room at the top of theatre, its sloping floor exactly matching the rake of the stage.

"How I wish we had a studio like this at Covent Garden," says the Royal Ballet's director. "It would make the rehearsal problem much easier."

Dousing

One afternoon excursion takes the dancers to a park where trick fountains drench the unsuspecting stroller.

Jets spurt from innocent-looking fountains or froth behind a park seat.

All good clean fun, Russian style.

Many of the dancers take a dousing. And Fonteyn, in a Dior summer suit, shoots the scene with a cine-camera.

But, said one girl, disconcerted: "We would have much preferred to cut the fountains and get in the chance of a swim."

—(London Express Service).

London Express Service.

London Express Service.

WOMANSENSE

JACOBY on BRIDGE

How do you bid the North hand after West opens with one diamond? Naturally, you start by making a negative double and you are pleased when your partner responds with one spade.

What is your next bid? Should you give a single or double raise?

Your hand is clearly worth a spade raise. Your partner may have a very bad hand. After all, you have practically forced him to bid, but there are still distinct possibilities of game. In

NORTH 10
AK42
QJ76
3
KJ54
WEST (D) EAST
J10		97
AK5		10832
AQ1086		105
903		Q1072
SOUTH
Q853
94
J742
AS
East and West vulnerable
West North East South
1 2 Double Pass 1 4
Pass 2 4 Pass 4 4
Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead—A J

fact many people think game is so likely that they jump to three spades with this type of hand. However, a mere raise to two is sufficient. In itself this immediate single raise shows a very good hand because you are inviting a game after forcing your partner to bid.

With seven high card points, two doubletons and a five card suit South should jump right to four spades after the raise.

South won't be too happy with his contract after West opens the jack of spades, but because trumps break nicely and West holds both ace and king of hearts everything will come out all right.

STANDARD BRIDGE

Q—The bidding has been: West North East South 1 2 Double Rebid 1 4. You, South, hold: ♠Q8765 ♥32 ♦76 ♣854. What do you do?

A—Bid one spade. However, certain modern players will jump right to two spades in an attempt to preempt. This bid is not recommended unless you can be sure of your partner's understanding.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You do bid one spade. West passes and your partner jumps to three spades. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To prevent crochet work from unraveling when putting it down, pull out the last stitch into a long loop, then fasten a small safety pin over the thread and pull the stitch tight.

If you are short of vegetables, try adding a tin of baked beans to your casserole or stew about ten minutes before serving. This will make up the deficiency.

Try cooking tinned and bottled fruits in their own juice half an hour before serving. This makes them larger and brings out the full flavour.

If you intend storing mint, soak the fresh mint for a few minutes in a solution of water and bicarbonate of soda. When it dries it will retain its colour.

Rupert and Gwyneth—54

When they are back in the garden Tabitha and the owl think that they have been obedient enough and return to their game of teasing Mr. Bear. "Oh dear, Daddy won't stand for this much longer!" murmurs Rupert. "I must put an end to it somehow."

ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

LADY LUCK

YOUR CHINA MAIL HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, JUNE 30

AQUARIUS (January 21-February 19): You will be closely drawn to a person of the opposite sex born under Sagittarius, and a happy union could easily result.

PISCES (February 20-March 20): Arguments put forward by a business prospect can be dealt with promptly if you keep your wits about you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Practical experience rather than theory would be the better guide to your actions today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Your love of luxury should act as an incentive to your making a success of your chosen career.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Have the courage of your convictions, and don't be swayed too easily by the opinions of others.

CANCER (June 22-July 21): You will be elated at being able to beat a formidable opponent at a friendly game of sport.

LEO (July 22-August 21): Don't rest on your laurels after a brilliant beginning.

A great deal more remains to be done.
VIRGO (August 22-September 22): Choose your words carefully when confronted with a person who tends to pick quarrels at the slightest provocation.

LIBRA (September 23-October 22): You should now find the time to pursue a hobby which you were forced to put aside through pressure of work.

SCORPIO (October 23-November 21): Avoid being too much on your own over the week-end, but try to surround yourself with cheerful company.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22-December 21): You should not resent fair criticism from a person well qualified to give it.

CAPRICORN (December 22-January 20): Don't assume indifference on the part of someone who finds it difficult to express his feelings.

YOUR BIRTHDAY: If this is your birthday you will meet someone whose remarkable personality will act as a spur to your efforts this year.

COOKING COLUMN by Felicity Ascot

The nutritious tomato...

Tomato sauce

1 cup tomato pulp, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, ½ bay leaf, 2 whole cloves, 1½ tablespoons margarine, 1½ teaspoon salt, ½ tablespoon sugar, little pepper, 1½ tablespoon flour.

Cook tomato pulp, onion, bay leaf and cloves for 15 minutes. Strain through a coarse sieve. Add salt, pepper and sugar. Melt the margarine, add flour and cook for about a minute, stirring constantly. Add the tomato mixture to the flour mixture, stirring constantly. As soon as it boils it is ready to serve.

Tomato souffle

1 cup tomato sauce, 3 eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper.

Separate the whites and yolks of the eggs and beat the yolks thoroughly. Add the cold tomato sauce and the salt and pepper. Beat the whites of the eggs until stiff. Fold in the stiff whites and put the mixture into a mould which has been thoroughly greased. Place the mould in a pan containing an inch of hot water and bake in a slow oven for 35 to 45 minutes. ½ cup of grated cheese will vary and improve this recipe.

Shirred eggs in tomatoes

For each serving allow: 1 large, firm tomato, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon tomato sauce, salt, pepper and buttered breadcrumbs, a little grated cheese.

Remove the pulp from the tomatoes, salt the inside of the shell and cut a thin slice from the bottom, so that the tomato will stand level. Place the tomatoes in a baking dish. Put one tablespoon of tomato sauce

Tomato tapioca

3 cups sliced tomatoes, drained, 2 tablespoons sugar, ¼ cup tapioca, a little salt.

Cook tomatoes, tapioca, sugar and salt in a double boiler until tapioca is transparent (about 30 minutes). Pour into individual moulds and chill. When thoroughly set unmould and serve with cream.

STORIES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

A Broken Promise

—Why Chris Cricket Had To Play His Guitar—

By MAX TRELL

CHRISTOPHER Cricket crawled out from behind the kitchen stove where he was spending a more or less pleasant winter for it was snug and warm when the stove was turned on and a little too cold when the stove was turned off—and went into the room at the end of the hall where he was delighted to find his friends Knarf and Hanid, the Shadow Children with the Turned-About Names.

Musician first

As usual, Christopher had his guitar strapped over his shoulder. Christopher considered himself a Musician first and a Cricket second.

"Anybody can be a Cricket," he would sometimes say with a smile, "but not anybody can be a Musician."

"Good morning, Christopher," said Hanid as Christopher sat himself down between her and Knarf.

Christopher greeted both his friends. Then Knarf said: "You woke me up last night, Chris."

"Gosh," said Christopher. "Did I? I didn't mean to."

Heard his playing

"I heard you playing on that guitar of yours. You were right in the middle of the room and looked around. But it was too dark to see you. I think you must have been behind the bookcase." Knarf gave Christopher a long look.

"You broke your promise, Chris," he said. "You promised not to play your guitar in this room in the middle of the night."

VERONICA PAPWORTH

What they do to keep in step with fashion

HE stood in the Paddock at Ascot and he almost wept. "Look, my dear Veronica, please, I beg of you, look at the way the average woman walks. The head forward... the shoulders rounded... the pelvis slack and the knees bent!"

Professor Joseph Trueta the Oxford orthopaedic surgeon who numbers the Duchess of Windsor among his patients and is currently caring for the ski injuries of Mrs. Tina Onassis and the Princess Ann Marie von Bismark, was in full professional flood.

The toe-teeterers are in trouble again

"I tell you the trouble is posture, their bent knees and distorted feet." Around us, nine-tenths of the women teetered past with their full weight on their toes and their ridiculous little heels held clear of the treacherous grass. "In Andalusia we have peasant girls who walk like goddesses, upright and barefoot with their water jugs upon their heads." "The trouble is," I told him sadly, "that women are MAD for feet shaped like shoes." "They don't WANT shoes shaped like feet."

WHAT EVERY WOMAN OUGHT TO WEAR...

JAM-PAKED together at the Savoy in an atmosphere so heavily scented you could have chopped them up in squares and sold it as bath cubes, we celebrated the advent of a new perfume from Paris. Spraying each other liberally and sniffing experimentally, we, the beauty experts, declared this latest drop of seduction "light," "evocative," or "downright 'earthy'." rather in the manner of a group of bewhiskered bibbers sampling some rare vintage.

Madame Helene Roehas, widow of couturier Marcel Roehas and boss of the business that produces the incomparable "Femme" was our hostess. The new scent is named after her.

Dressed in one of those splendid little understated numbers by Chanel, she was an outstanding example of What Every Woman Ought to Wear. Her navy blue jacket and pleated skirt were of silk shantung—with white cuffs and gold links. Around her throat a white silk scarf was fastened with a magnificent sapphire, diamond, and aquamarine clip.

"Yes," said Madame, "I have many many jewels. I have also a little philosophy about them."

"If a woman wears jewels she looks beautiful. If she knows she is beautiful she is happy. And if she is happy she is kind."

"So for women to 'have jewels is good for men.'"

Sapphires, she told me, were happy-making for her. Turquoise too.

"I've always the blues," she explained—indicating not her state of mind but her colour preference.

On my right a blonde in a "a la go" green breton declared with great vehemence that she would, any day, go without lipstick rather than scent.

"Maybe I've got an inferiority complex or something," she told me with a little smile to underline the ridiculousness of the suggestion.

zealot—"My husband represents the Roehas interests over here and we do a great deal of entertaining."

"Sounds marvellous. I know, but you know how it is when it's big business and you have to make a special effort and you're feeling ghastly."

"The other week he brought home three American and two Chinese."

"What I say is, that's when perfume gives you a lift. Just pour me a brandy and ginger ale and drench me with Femme and I'm ready to lick the world."

Turning back to Madame I asked if her latest product was planned for any particular type or occasion.

"It is a perfume for the career woman to wear all day. It is me. Easy light and very, very simple but persuasive."

"For business?"

"But what about X?" said I, mentioning a rival.

"Harding? X is only to wear in bed," cried the blonde.

I left it at that.

"Play something!" the Monkeys began shouting.

"Look who's here!" the Monkey shouted. "A Cricket with a guitar!"

"Then about six or seven other Monkeys stuck their heads out of the same book and began shouting: 'Play something!'"

Christopher took a deep breath and went on with his story.

"They were all small Monkeys with long tails and they came out of the book and began dancing around me in a ring. So I started to play," said Christopher. "I really didn't want to. I don't like playing for Monkeys. And, besides, there was my promise that I didn't want to break. But just the same, I played."

"Danced around"

"You should have seen how those Monkeys danced around. Some of them jumped on my shoulder and head. Some of them jumped over me. Some of them jumped over each other."

"And then the Lion stuck his head out of the book."

"No!" exclaimed Hanid. "Yes!" said Christopher. "And the Tigers, too, and the Elephants and the Giraffes and the Hippopotamuses and the Rhinoceros and the Zebras and

LOOKING AHEAD TO AUTUMN

FOR THE SPORTING TYPE

The cryptic name E Type is given to this sporting ensemble by Christian Dior of London. It was shown in one of the recent autumn collections. Jacket, wrap-over skirt and knee-length trousers are in emerald green and red reversible wool.

MORE WIMBLEDON 'SEEDS' CRASH

Pietrangeli loses to U.S. College boy

MISS TURNER OUT IN SECOND ROUND

London, June 29.

More seeded players were eliminated today in the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships when Europe's top player, Nicola Pietrangeli, and Lesley Turner, one of Australia's star lady players, went down to shock defeats.

These defeats emphasised the earlier predictions that the 75th Championships would be the most open since the war.

Chris Crawford, one of a fine crop of rising American players, caused the downfall of Pietrangeli, the official third favourite for the men's title. Producing a killing service power and backed by a sound net attack, the 20-year-old College boy won 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, after two years without winning a title.

His third round triumph, which put him into the last 16, was loudly applauded by the capacity crowd.

Stroke artist

Pietrangeli, a semi-finalist here a year ago, and one of the finest stroke artists in the amateur game, began his usual fluent style, but his play fell away under pressure and became riddled with errors. With his defeat, only six of the original eight seeded men remained.

The upsurge of women's tennis in Australia, which has been a feature of the past two years, received a jolt with the defeat today of fourth seeded Miss Turner.

The compact curly blond, 18, who is on her first visit to Europe, could give strong control and went down in straight sets to the experienced M. G. Arnold, of Redwood, California. The 22-year-old American, daughter of a former Wimbledon Cup player, volleyed superbly to win 7-5, 6-4 in 53 minutes.

Miss Arnold, though scarcely five feet tall, put plenty of power into her service which often troubled the Australian. She was most successful in the early stages of the match, reaching the final of the Italian Championships.

Good attendance

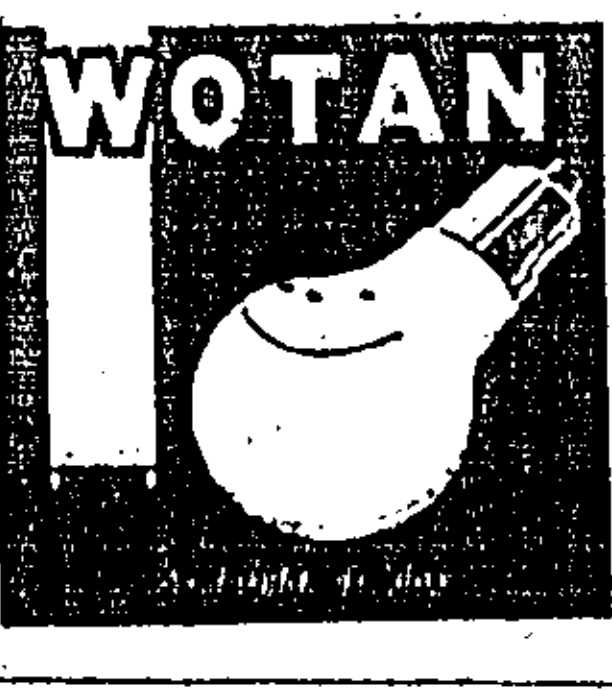

It was another superbly fine day at Wimbledon with 84,000 spectators, many of whom were seen on the lawns, some on the roof of the stands, and others on the roof of the stands. The crowd of 24,000, which was the largest since the war, was seen on the lawns, some on the roof of the stands, and others on the roof of the stands.

Today's programme consisted of the whole of the men's third round and the ladies' second round with the outstanding matches left over from yesterday.

Emerson, Australia's fourth seeded player, who is drawn to meet the favorite, Rod Laver, in the semi-finals, and Arthur Ashe, Romanthian Krishnan India's seventh seeded player, both reached the last 16, but each dropped a set for the first time today.

Emerson beat John Douglas, former American football star and Inter-Collegiate tennis champion in 1958. He won 6-3, 6-0, 3-7, 6-4.

Krishnan beat Orlando Sirola of Italy 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1. Apart from one or two lapses in the third set, when Douglas struck a good patch.

THE GAMBOLS

Ambassadors of Football contest

Following are the standings in the Hongkong Ambassadors of Football contest after yesterday's voting:

SENIOR TEAM	JUNIOR TEAM
Kung Wah-kai (Police) 10,333	Wong Sze-keung (Wah Yan) 7,970
Ho Cheung-yau (SCAA) 10,333	Chan Yiu-kun (Salem) 20,784
Ho Cheung-yau (SCAA) 10,333	Yung Chiu-ling (St. Louis) 9,843
N. North (Hongkong Club) 2,118	Chan Lue-wo (Sung Ching) 7,287
Lau Kiu-chung (SCAA) 1,403	Chan Kwai-wing (La Salle) 5,570
Wong Man-wai (Hong Kong Valley) 1,381	Chan Pak-ling (La Salle) 5,503
Mok Chun-wah (SCAA) 650	Yung Chiu-ling (Wah Yan) 4,503
Yiu Cheuk-yin (Tung Wah) 618	Yu Chun-hong (Queen's) 4,433
Wong Chee-keung (SCAA) 555	Lee Kam-kit (Salem) 4,433
Chiu Fat-hung (Tung Wah) 671	Chung Kwok-hing (Elizabeth) 2,612
Cheung Shu-keung (Police) 653

Thomson, Hunt share Dunlop Golf lead

Nottingham, June 29. Australian ace Peter Thomson and Britain's Bernard Hunt, the season's top money winner, set a hot pace today to share the lead in the first round of the Dunlop £6,000 Golf Tournament.

Both carded first rounds of 66 to smash the Cuxmoor Course record and give them a one-shot lead over their nearest rivals, Australian Len Woodward and Sebastian Miguel of Spain.

Among other leading players were: R. Waltman, South Africa, 68; D. Hutchinson, South Africa, 70; G. De Wit, Holland, 72.

A. D. Locke, South Africa; and B. S. Wilkes, South Africa, 73. Among leading players on the Hollinwell Course behind P. J. Shanks, Britain, with his 68, were: P. W. Verwey, South Africa, 71; F. De Luca, Argentina; H. R. Henning, South Africa; and J. Garalinde, France, 72.—A.P.

Tony Maggs wins 'Monza Lottery' motor race

Monza, Italy, June 29. South Africa's Tony Maggs, in a British-made Cooper, today won the "Grand Prize of the Monza Lottery" race for Junior Formula cars.

The race on the famed motor-racing track in this North Italian city got its name from a national lottery based on the race results. The first prize in the lottery is US$100,000. The size of the lottery gave major importance to the junior race, as far as Italians were concerned.

Maggs' time in the 172.5-kilometre (106.95-mile) final heat of the race was one hour and 30 seconds, for an average speed of 171.074 kilometres per hour (106.250 mph).

Earlier he had won the first of two 80.25-kilometre (50.47-mile) elimination heats. There were 24 entries in each elimination heat. The top 12 in each heat entered the final.

Italy's Massimo Natili, in a Lotus, placed second in 1:01:10.2.

Bob Sietemaker, of Holland, driving a Lola-Ford, was third in 1:01:30.2.

Other placings in the final event were:

4. J. H. Gatson, Britain, in a Cooper, in 1:01:43.0.

5. Gianfranco Moroni, Italy, in a Fiat-Stanguellini, in 1:01:51.8.

Bill Alley saves Somerset from a follow-on Taunton, June 29. A magnificent 134 by 42-year-old Australian "exile" Bill Alley helped Somerset save the follow-on by eight runs against the Australian touring team on the second day of the match.

Somerset were all out for 218, in reply to the Australian total of 440 for three declared. The tourists had made 103 for one in their second innings by the close.

Alley, coming in at 85 for two, watched two more wickets fall cheaply before adding 28 for the fifth wicket with Mervyn Kitchen, the only Somerset-born player in the county's team.

19 in five balls

Kitchen stayed 35 minutes before falling, but before Lindsay Kilne for an invaluable 31 and at this point Alley cut loose, hitting 10 runs off five successive balls.

Alley was eventually the last man out, having batted 213 minutes for his fifth century of the season. His strokes included two sixes, one five and 22 fours, and brought his aggregate for the summer to 1,300 runs.

The last century by a Somerset player against an Australian Touring team was made oddly enough by another Australian "exile" Colin McCool who scored 90 and 116 against the 1950 side.

The Australians, leading by 142, went gallily for runs in their second innings. Bill Alley and wicketkeeper Harry Jarman, put on 50 in half an hour, raced to 50 in half an hour.

But with 71 on the board, made in 45 minutes, Alley was trapped leg before by Brian Langford.

Though dropped once, Jarman went on to seal quick runs and reached 50 in 65 minutes with the help of one six and seven fours.

The Australians reached three figures in the same time and at the close, after 75 minutes batting, the tourists were 109 for one.

Scoreboard
FIRST INNINGS
Australians: 440 for three wickets declared.
(32 for one overnight)
J. G. Lomax c Benaud b	4
M. Misson	4
B. Roe c Jarman b Kilne	33
P. B. Wight c Jarman b	40
Gaunt	40
W. Alley c and b Kilne	134
C. Greenham c Benaud	4
Gaunt	31
M. Kitchen lbw Kilne	31
C. R. M. Atkinson c Gaunt b	1
Quick	1
K. Palmer st Jarman b	13
H. Stephenson c Misson b	7
Kilne	7
B. Lange c Jarman b Kilne	11
K. Biddulph not out	5
Extras	15
Total	208

Fall of wickets: 1-5, 2-25, 3-89, 4-94, 5-187, 6-210, 7-243, 8-269, 9-284, 10-208.

Two of Bergaud's teammates, Jean Dotto and Stephano Lach, were second and third. They both clocked the same time of 5:40:45.

Jacques Anquetil, of the French national team, who is the favourite for the race, retains his lead in the overall classification with a time of 20 hours 45 minutes 20 seconds.

Anquetil has been the race leader since the first stage.

His team-mate Joseph Brousseau is second in the overall placings with a time of 20:49:40. Dotto is third with 20:50:47.—A.P.

First Class Cricket

Craig (208) boosts Light Blues' Varsity match hopes

London, June 29.

Cambridge University, today at Eastbourne, received tremendous encouragement for the Varsity match, which is just over two weeks away, when their 19-year-old batsman Edward Craig scored an unbeaten double-century against Colonel L. C. Stevens' eleven.

This was the first double-century for Cambridge since the Ceylon-born player Ganit Goonesena hit 211 in the Varsity match of 1957.

Craig, a freshman, scored 208 not out in a Cambridge total of 335 for five declared.

This young player, who in his last two seasons at Charterhouse excelled even the run-scoring feats there of England star Peter May, batted for 290 minutes without giving a chance and hit 32 fours.

Career best

Meanwhile Oxford University were dismissed for 224 by Surrey, who gained first innings lead of 83. Feature of the Oxford innings was the batting of the captain, the Nawab of Pataudi, who hit 50 in 67 minutes. The first scoring stroke was a six and his next seven scoring strokes were fours.

Peter Jones, the 26-year-old Kent all-rounder, hit the highest score of his career when he took 132 off the Nottinghamshire attack at Tunbridge Wells.

Jones hit three sixes and 20 fours in an innings of 150 minutes. He shared a fifth wicket stand of 212 with Stuart Leary, who hit 92.

This stand put Kent well on the road to first innings lead after they had been 94 for four at one stage.

Worcestershire all-rounder Martin Horton hit 124 not out to put his side in a strong position against Northamptonshire at Northampton.

He batted for 194 minutes and hit 10 fours.

Closing scores

Close of play scores in today's cricket matches were:

At Lord's: Middlesex 190 and 151 for three (W. Russell 51, R. Gale 77 not out). Hampshire 190 (A. Ingleby-Mackenzie 51, A. Moss 56 for 51).

At the Oval: Surrey 287 for eight declared and 121 for three (J. Edrich 54). Oxford University 224 (D. Green 39, Nawab of Pataudi 50).

At Eastbourne: Colonel Stevens XI 201 and 74 for three. Cambridge University 333 for five declared (N. Reddy 78, E. Craig 208 not out).

At Sheffield: Derbyshire 191 and 20 for two. Yorkshire 134 (K. Taylor 49, B. Close 72, P. Sharpe 50, F. Trueman 58).

At Tunbridge Wells: Nottinghamshire 327 for nine declared and 113 for three (J. Clay 60). Kent 339 for seven declared (P. Jones 132).

At Ashby-de-la-Zouch: Sussex 308 and 120. Leicestershire 113 and 64 for four.

At Northampton: Worcester-shire 239 and 254 for five declared (M. Horton 124 not out). Northamptonshire 133 (M. Norman 54, L. Flavell 56 for 93), and 39 for one.

At Liverpool: Lancashire 240 and 200 for five declared (B. Booth 70, P. Garner 64, K. Griegs 41). Gloucestershire 114 (C. Milton 50), and 39 for three.

At Swansea: Warwickshire 195 and 128 for one (N. Horner 63 not out, J. Kennedy 46 not out). Glamorgan 221 (A. Jones 74, T. Curwight 46 for 85, W. Bridge 46 for 43). —A.P.

English soccer dispute flares up again

London, June 29. The English Professional Footballers' Association Management Committee have rejected the proposals on the retain and transfer system agreed at the Football League's annual meeting earlier this month.

This latest move in the dispute between players and clubs follows the League's refusal to implement the full agreement reached between their negotiators and the players at the Ministry of Labour earlier in the year. The main point at issue is the player's automatic right to be given a transfer if he asks for it.

Chief Lloyd, the Association secretary, said the outcome of the League meeting was "totally unacceptable" to them. The strongest possible representations were made to the Minister of Labour, who has agreed to implement the agreement if players would be called next month.

Asked about possible strike action, Mr Lloyd said: "It will be up to the members. It is their decision. We do not make any recommendations." —China Mail Special.

English women's hockey team leaves for S. Africa

Southampton, June 29. Thirteen members of the English women's field hockey team sailed today for Capetown, South Africa, aboard the liner Athlone Castle.

It was the first time since 1954 that an English team had gone to South Africa. When the South Africans last visited England in 1959 they were beaten 4-1.

The English girls will play South Africa on July 22 in Capetown in the first of four matches. They also will play at Durban on Aug. 5, at Johannesburg on Aug. 20 and in Salisbury, Rhodesia on Sept. 2.

Miss Barbara Rylands, captain of the team, is flying later to South Africa.—A.P.

U.S. baseball results

New York, June 29.

Today's Major League baseball results included:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
	R	H	E
Boston	9	8	1
Minnesota	5	9	1
Chicago	2	10	1
Detroit	5	7	1

NATIONAL LEAGUE
	R	H	E
Cincinnati	8	12	0
Chicago	15	17	1

—A.P.

Big international field for Moscow athletic meeting

Moscow, June 29. Track and field stars from more than 20 nations, including 13 individual Olympic champions, will compete in the fourth Znamensky Brothers International Meeting here on July 1 and July 2.

Bergaud wins Tour De France fifth stage

Strasbourg, June 29. Louis Bergaud, of the French Regional team, won the fifth stage of the Tour De France cycle race today.

He covered the 221 kilometres (137 miles) from Metz to here in five hours 48 minutes five seconds.

Two of Bergaud's teammates, Jean Dotto and Stephano Lach, were second and third. They both clocked the same time of 5:40:45.

Jacques Anquetil, of the French national team, who is the favourite for the race, retains his lead in the overall classification with a time of 20 hours 45 minutes 20 seconds.

Anquetil has been the race leader since the first stage.

His team-mate Joseph Brousseau is second in the overall placings with a time of 20:49:40. Dotto is third with 20:50:47.—A.P.

CHESS

By LEONARD BARDEN

East Germany's top player Wolfgang Uhlmann caused an international chess crisis last year when the Allied Control Commission in Berlin would not allow him a pass to compete in the world title eliminating contest in Holland.

In a later tournament also played in Holland, Uhlmann did get his pass and won this time against the Hollanders, 1-0.

Uhlmann's record: 1 P-Q4, P-Q3; 2 P-Q4, P-Q3; 3 Kt-QB3, P-Kt3; 4 P-K4, P-Q4; 5 P-Q3, P-K4; 6 B-R3, P-K3; 7 P-K4, P-Q3; 8 B-K3, P-K3; 9 Kt-Q3, P-K3; 10 P-R3, B-Q2; 11 P-QKt1, P-B4; 12 P-K4, B-P; 13 Kt-Q3, P-K4; 14 Kt-Q3, P-K4; 15 Q-K3, B-R3; 16 Kt-Q3, P-K4; 17 B-Kt5, B-B; 18 P-B, Kt-Q1; 19 Kt-Q3, P-K4; 20 P-K4, P-Q3; 21 P-Q3, P-K4; 22 Kt-Q3, P-K4; 23 P-K4, P-Q3; 24 P-K4, P-Q3; 25 P-K4, P-Q3; 26 P-K4, P-Q3; 27 P-K4, P-Q3; 28 P-K4, P-Q3; 29 P-K4, P-Q3; 30 P-K4, P-Q3; 31 P-K4, P-Q3; 32 P-K4, P-Q3; 33 P-K4, P-Q3; 34 P-K4, P-Q3; 35 P-K4, P-Q3; 36 P-K4, P-Q3; 37 P-K4, P-Q3; 38 P-K4, P-Q3; 39 P-K4, P-Q3; 40 P-K4, P-Q3; 41 P-K4, P-Q3; 42 P-K4, P-Q3; 43 P-K4, P-Q3; 44 P-K4, P-Q3; 45 P-K4, P-Q3; 46 P-K4, P-Q3; 47 P-K4, P-Q3; 48 P-K4, P-Q3; 49 P-K4, P-Q3; 50 P-K4, P-Q3; 51 P-K4, P-Q3; 52 P-K4, P-Q3; 53 P-K4, P-Q3; 54 P-K4, P-Q3; 55 P-K4, P-Q3; 56 P-K4, P-Q3; 57 P-K4, P-Q3; 58 P-K4, P-Q3; 59 P-K4, P-Q3; 60 P-K4, P-Q3; 61 P-K4, P-Q3; 62 P-K4, P-Q3; 63 P-K4, P-Q3; 64 P-K4, P-Q3; 65 P-K4, P-Q3; 66 P-K4, P-Q3; 67 P-K4, P-Q3; 68 P-K4, P-Q3; 69 P-K4, P-Q3; 70 P-K4, P-Q3; 71 P-K4, P-Q3; 72 P-K4, P-Q3; 73 P-K4, P-Q3; 74 P-K4, P-Q3; 75 P-K4, P-Q3; 76 P-K4, P-Q3; 77 P-K4, P-Q3; 78 P-K4, P-Q3; 79 P-K4, P-Q3; 80 P-K4, P-Q3; 81 P-K4, P-Q3; 82 P-K4, P-Q3; 83 P-K4, P-Q3; 84 P-K4, P-Q3; 85 P-K4, P-Q3; 86 P-K4, P-Q3; 87 P-K4, P-Q3; 88 P-K4, P-Q3; 89 P-K4, P-Q3; 90 P-K4, P-Q3; 91 P-K4, P-Q3; 92 P-K4, P-Q3; 93 P-K4, P-Q3; 94 P-K4, P-Q3; 95 P-K4, P-Q3; 96 P-K4, P-Q3; 97 P-K4, P-Q3; 98 P-K4, P-Q3; 99 P-K4, P-Q3; 100 P-K4, P-Q3; 101 P-K4, P-Q3; 102 P-K4, P-Q3; 103 P-K4, P-Q3; 104 P-K4, P-Q3; 105 P-K4, P-Q3; 106 P-K4, P-Q3; 107 P-K4, P-Q3; 108 P-K4, P-Q3; 109 P-K4, P-Q3; 110 P-K4, P-Q3; 111 P-K4, P-Q3; 112 P-K4, P-Q3; 113 P-K4, P-Q3; 114 P-K4, P-Q3; 115 P-K4, P-Q3; 116 P-K4, P-Q3; 117 P-K4, P-Q3; 118 P-K4, P-Q3; 119 P-K4, P-Q3; 120 P-K4, P-Q3; 121 P-K4, P-Q3; 122 P-K4, P-Q3; 123 P-K4, P-Q3; 124 P-K4, P-Q3; 125 P-K4, P-Q3; 126 P-K4, P-Q3; 127 P-K4, P-Q3; 128 P-K4, P-Q3; 129 P-K4, P-Q3; 130 P-K4, P-Q3; 131 P-K4, P-Q3; 132 P-K4, P-Q3; 133 P-K4, P-Q3; 134 P-K4, P-Q3; 135 P-K4, P-Q3; 136 P-K4, P-Q3; 137 P-K4, P-Q3; 138 P-K4, P-Q3; 139 P-K4, P-Q3; 140 P-K4, P-Q3; 141 P-K4, P-Q3; 142 P-K4, P-Q3; 143 P-K4, P-Q3; 144 P-K4, P-Q3; 145 P-K4, P-Q3; 146 P-K4, P-Q3; 147 P-K4, P-Q3; 148 P-K4, P-Q3; 149 P-K4, P-Q3; 150 P-K4, P-Q3; 151 P-K4, P-Q3; 152 P-K4, P-Q3; 153 P-K4, P-Q3; 154 P-K4, P-Q3; 155 P-K4, P-Q3; 156 P-K4, P-Q3; 157 P-K4, P-Q3; 158 P-K4, P-Q3; 159 P-K4, P-Q3; 160 P-K4, P-Q3; 161 P-K4, P-Q3; 162 P-K4, P-Q3; 163 P-K4, P-Q3; 164 P-K4, P-Q3; 165 P-K4, P-Q3; 166 P-K4, P-Q3; 167 P-K4, P-Q3; 168 P-K4, P-Q3; 169 P-K4, P-Q3; 170 P-K4, P-Q3; 171 P-K4, P-Q3; 172 P-K4, P-Q3; 173 P-K4, P-Q3; 174 P-K4, P-Q3; 175 P-K4, P-Q3; 176 P-K4, P-Q3; 177 P-K4, P-Q3; 178 P-K4, P-Q3; 179 P-K4, P-Q3; 180 P-K4, P-Q3; 181 P-K4, P-Q3; 182 P-K4, P-Q3; 183 P-K4, P-Q3; 184 P-K4, P-Q3; 185 P-K4, P-Q3; 186 P-K4, P-Q3; 187 P-K4, P-Q3; 188 P-K4, P-Q3; 189 P-K4, P-Q3; 190 P-K4, P-Q3; 191 P-K4, P-Q3; 192 P-K4, P-Q3; 193 P-K4, P-Q3; 194 P-K4, P-Q3; 195 P-K4, P-Q3; 196 P-K4, P-Q3; 197 P-K4, P-Q3; 198 P-K4, P-Q3; 199 P-K4, P-Q3; 200 P-K4, P-Q3; 201 P-K4, P-Q3; 202 P-K4, P-Q3; 203 P-K4, P-Q3; 204 P-K4, P-Q3; 205 P-K4, P-Q3; 206 P-K4, P-Q3; 207 P-K4, P-Q3; 208 P-K4, P-Q3; 209 P-K4, P-Q3; 210 P-K4, P-Q3; 211 P-K4, P-Q3; 212 P-K4, P-Q3; 213 P-K4, P-Q3; 214 P-K4, P-Q3; 215 P-K4, P-Q3; 216 P-K4, P-Q3; 217 P-K4, P-Q3; 218 P-K4, P-Q3; 219 P-K4, P-Q3; 220 P-K4, P-Q3; 221 P-K4, P-Q3; 222 P-K4, P-Q3; 223 P-K4, P-Q3; 224 P-K4, P-Q3; 225 P-K4, P-Q3; 226 P-K4, P-Q3; 227 P-K4, P-Q3; 228 P-K4, P-Q3; 229 P-K4, P-Q3; 230 P-K4, P-Q3; 231 P-K4, P-Q3; 232 P-K4, P-Q3; 233 P-K4, P-Q3; 234 P-K4, P-Q3; 235 P-K4, P-Q3; 236 P-K4, P-Q3; 237 P-K4, P-Q3; 238 P-K4, P-Q3; 239 P-K4, P-Q3; 240 P-K4, P-Q3; 241 P-K4, P-Q3; 242 P-K4, P-Q3; 243 P-K4, P-Q3; 244 P-K4, P-Q3; 245 P-K4, P-Q3; 246 P-K4, P-Q3;

PRINCES OF SPORT

The speed-crazy sculptor
from Siam

By JOHN COTTRELL

It was the eve of the 1939 French Grand Prix at Rheims. A pint-sized figure, dressed in royal blue overalls and royal blue scarf, crouches at the wheel of a British ERA racing car scorching the track on a 100 mph test run.

Suddenly, on the second lap, he appears to lose control. For 300 yards the car swings crazily from side to side. Then it skids completely off the track, turns a double somersault, and makes a pancake landing.

Track officials race to the scene. Some way from the wreckage they find the driver, slightly scratched, still smiling. The eight-stone, jockey-like figure who has been thrown from the cockpit, dusts down his royal blue attire, walks towards the stands and declares: "I shall be in the race tomorrow. I can get another car in time."

That distinctive driver, aged 24, already winner of 19 major motor-racing events, was Prince Birabongse Bhanubandh of Siam (now Thailand), nephew of King Chulalongkorn who reigned from 1853-1910. To the motor-racing fraternity he was "B. Bir." To fellow Siamites he was "The Mouse." His incredible record of death-defying escapes suggests that he would have been better nicknamed "The Cat" — the sportsman with nine lives.

Nightmare year

Bira's nightmare year was 1949. In the Buenos Aires Grand Prix, he swerved his Maserati off the track and ripped through a barrier to avoid spectators who had swarmed forward to welcome victorious Alberto Ascari. He escaped with a broken leg. In the Grand Prix of Czechoslovakia, he drove one of three cars that ploughed into spectators causing fatal injuries. In the International Trophy Race at Silverstone, he shot off the course at 82 mph and careered into straw bales. That year, too, he escaped with cuts and bruises when his glider crashed in Devon, narrowly missing high-tension wires. Yet these and many more escapes could not deter the sporting Prince of Siam, one of the foremost racing drivers for 20 years. His interests were many—sculpture, yachting and flying, especially. Above all he was thrilled by the roar of the internal combustion engine.

On leaving Eton, he soon made his mark as sculptor (he exhibited at the Royal Academy) and racing driver. "Art and motor racing balance my life perfectly," he explained. "After the excitement of speed on the track, I go to the quietness and calm of the studio."

The 'Blue Prince'

He began with a Riley and a K3 MG Magnette. Then he acquired a 1,500 cc supercharged ERA and caused sensations by regularly beating the works team drivers.

After the ERA came a 3-litre Maserati in which he achieved the first 100 mph lap at Ireland's Phoenix Park.

Bira came into prominence in his first year of motor-racing when he finished second in the 1935 Swiss Grand Prix, beating the famous Lord Howe. He was so small that the seal of his Aston Martin had to be specially constructed.

Everything about the Prince's racing was slick and polished. His cars had to be immaculately clean and sparkling; even his pit attendants had to wear the royal blue uniform he adopted. They called him "The Blue Prince."

Sleek, dapper Bira was British road champion three years in a row before the war. Then he became a wartime gliding instructor in the Air Training Corps, and in 1946 he was the first man to qualify for an "A" licence after the ban on civil flying had been lifted. The following year, Bangkok-born Bira had his most thrilling race—a 60-lap battle for the 1947 Prix Leman on the outskirts of an airfield near Lausanne, Switzerland.

His most thrilling race

It was an event for racing cars of only 1,100 cc unsupercharged—small family saloons—but for Bira it brought as much pleasure as a high-powered Formula 1 Grand Prix battle.

He wriggled into the seat of his little Simca, pulled down his dark goggles, and looked across at his famous rival, Raymond Sommer, then one of the most spectacular of French racers. This was the man he had to beat. He resolved to keep ahead of him from the start.

Skidded

In practice laps, Sommer had recorded 1 min 52 secs whereas Bira's best was 1 min 53 secs. Now the Siamite went directly into the lead and in the second lap he touched over 100 mph on the straight as he fought to shake off the Frenchman.

As Bira passed his pit the second time, the signals told him he had achieved 1 min 51 secs. Yet he could still see Sommer in the mirror.

By the 11th lap, the Prince was over-lapping the stragglers while Sommer hung doggedly on his tail. Bira slowly increased his lead but in the 41st lap, when braking at the corner at the foot of a steep hill, he went into a skid and failed to straighten out.

His car slithered off the track towards the piles of straw packing the corner and as he struggled desperately to keep the engine going he felt both foolish and annoyed.

The engine was still revving and somehow he was away again within a few seconds. But the delay brought Sommer back into a challenging position.

expensive to compete privately against the highly-organised works teams.

Yet his performances against such giants as Fangio and Ascari were so impressive that in 1951 the 37-year-old Bira was invited to drive the BRM. He finally declined the offer.

Yacht-wreck

Among his last track triumphs was victory in the 1955 New Zealand Grand Prix. He led from start to finish in a Maserati and covered the 210-mile course non-stop in 2 hours 40 min 10 sec.

Soon after, the sporting Prince, who had also won awards for motor-cycling and gliding, concentrated on yachting to fulfil his ambition to compete in the 1956 Melbourne Olympics.

Danger and drama which had been his constant companion on the race track, caught up with him again on water.

In 1955, his pleasure yacht, Lelanta II, was wrecked in a storm off the Italian coast in the middle of the night.

Once again, Prince Bira was the hero of the hour. For nearly an hour he held his baby son from drowning and refused to be rescued himself until his men had saved his wife and all the other women among their 20 guests.

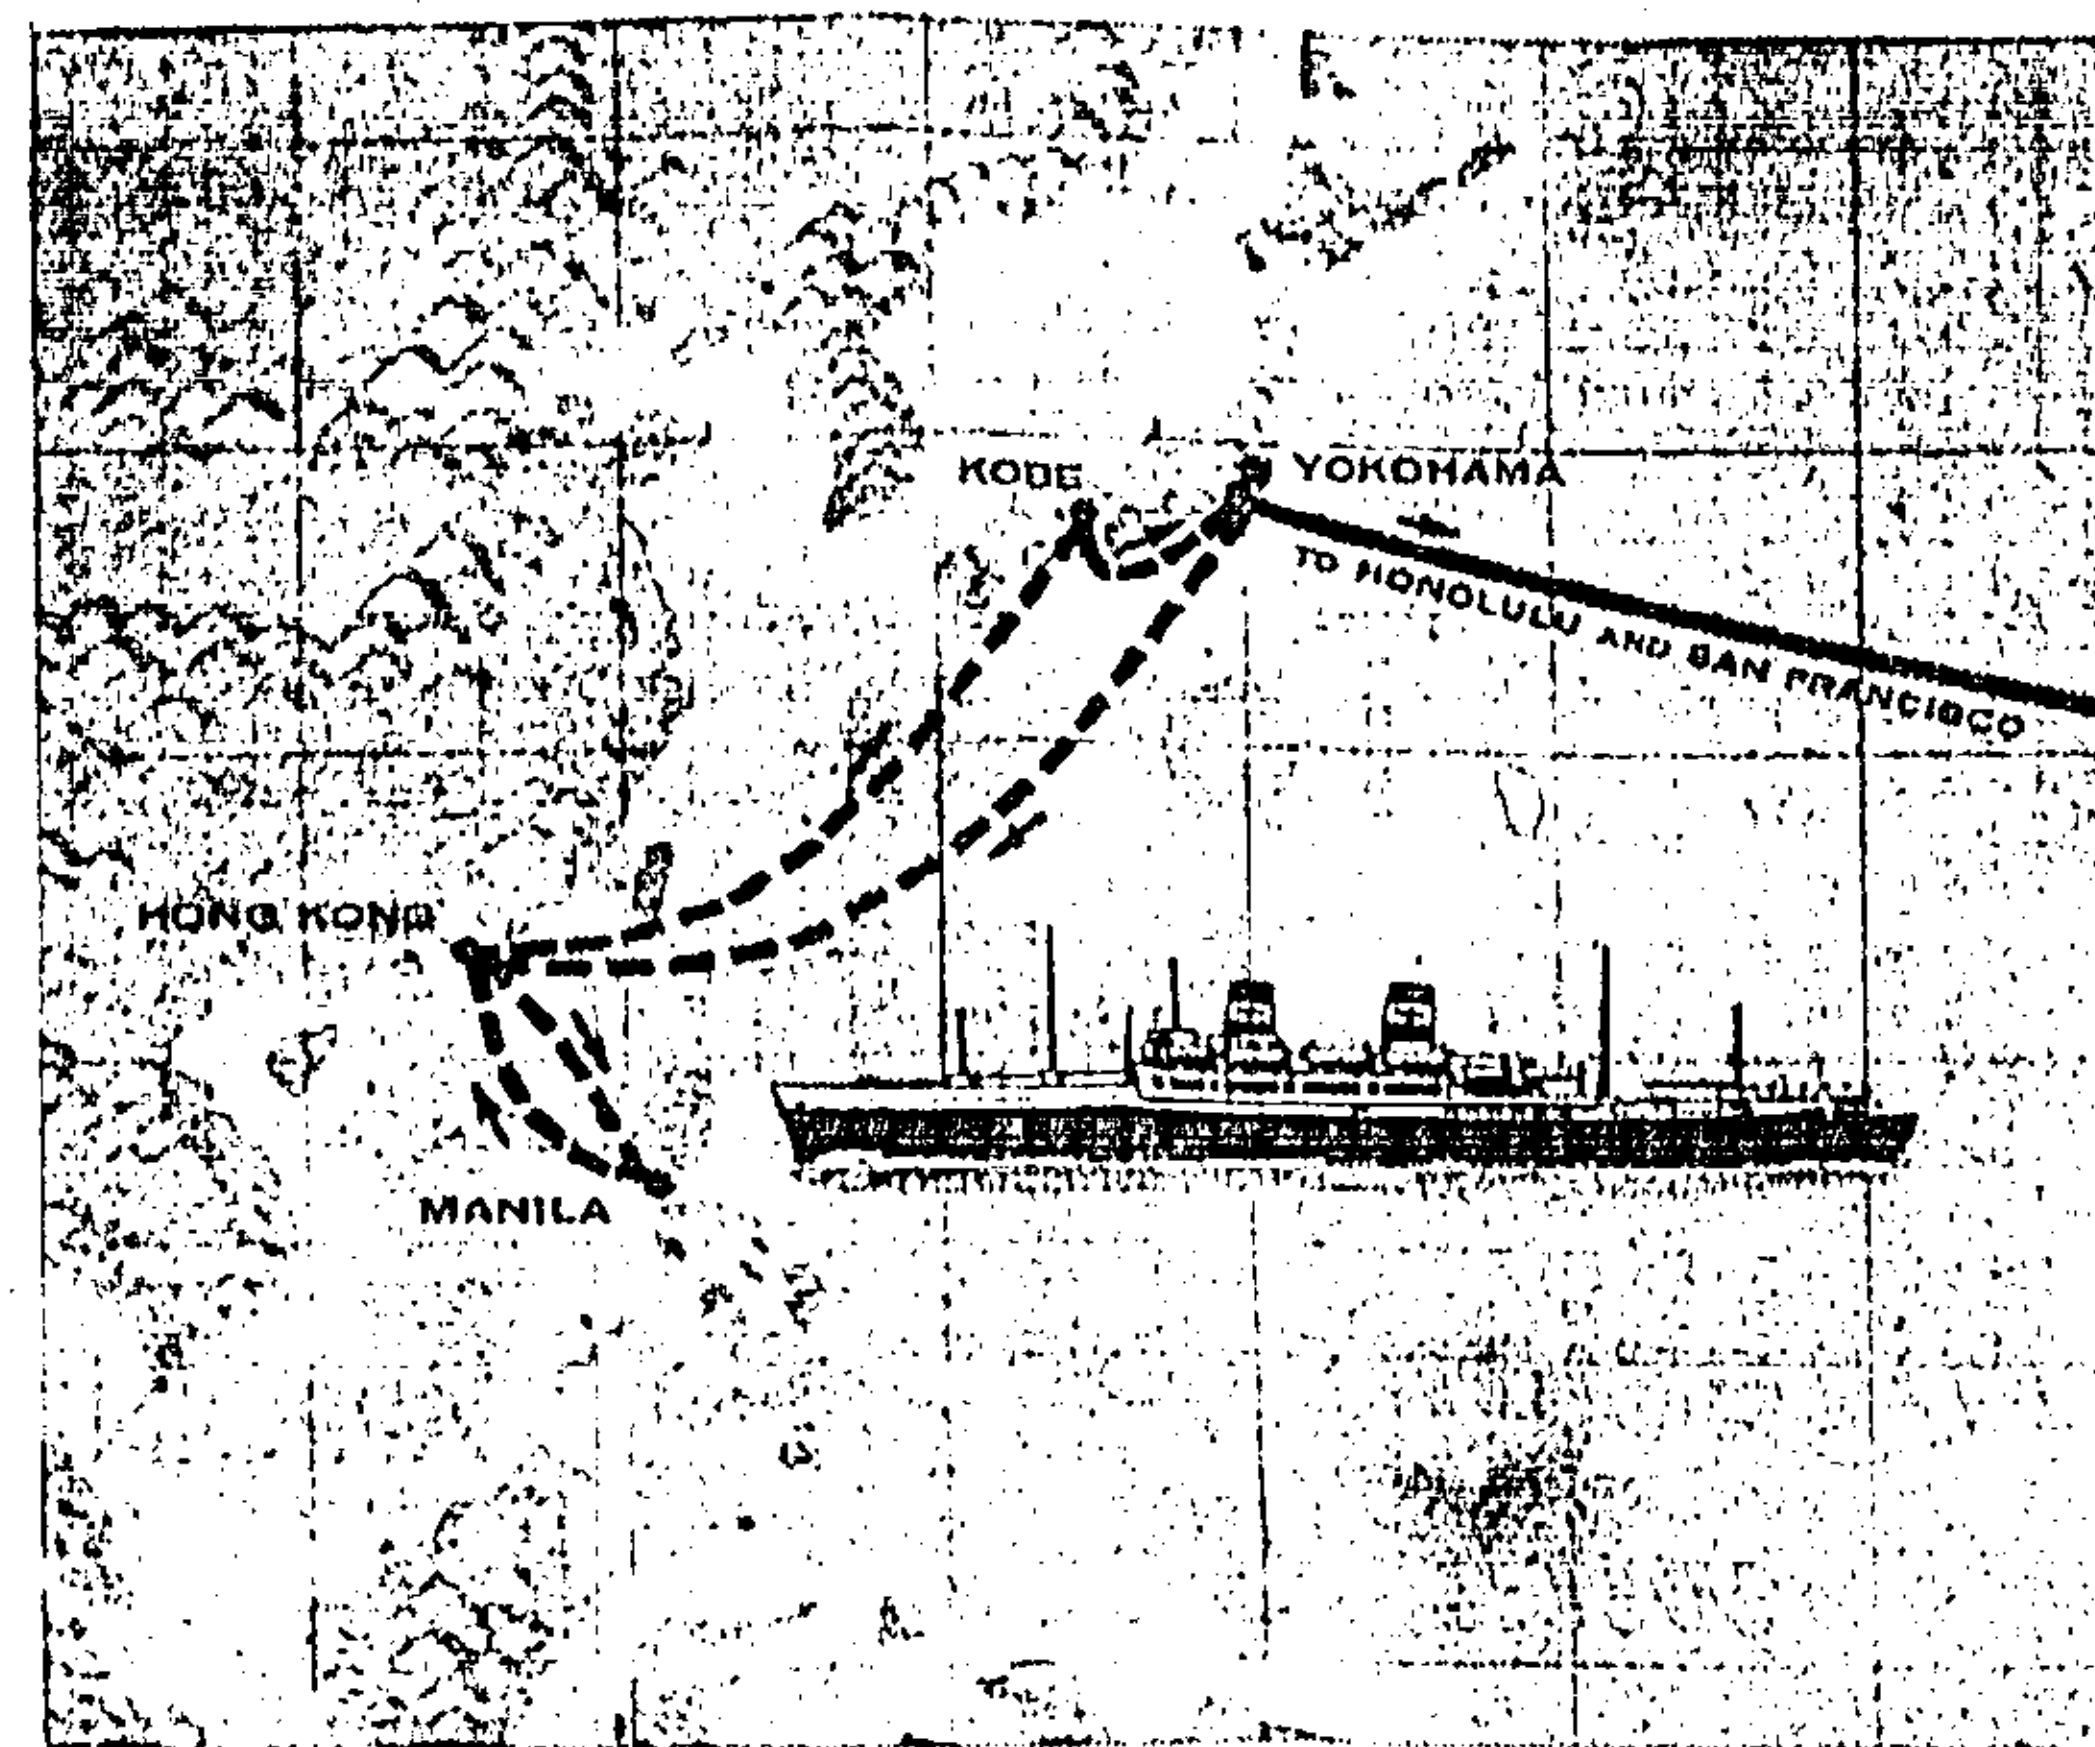

Not a professional

Second by second, the noise grew louder and more ominous. Bira could feel the power ebbing from his control. Sommer drew nearer and nearer. On the final bend the Frenchman appeared again in Bira's error. The Prince of Siam was just two lengths ahead of the French ace when he crossed the finishing line and the chequered flag swept down.

For Bira, who had previously competed in 85 road events and won 25 international races, it was the most satisfying moment in his racing career.

The Prince won tens of thousands of pounds as a racing driver, but never regarded himself as a professional. "It is a splendid hobby," he said. "I shall go on racing till I am stopped. Racing makes me steady. All the time I am driving, I have to keep control, to steady myself, to keep a clear head."

Speed-crazy Bira would drive thousands of miles to compete in a race. But in later years he found it increasingly tough and

SAIL APL ECONOMY CLASS ROUND TRIP TO MANILA FOR JUST U.S. $54

When you sail aboard a great President Liner between Hong Kong and Manila, you travel in unsurpassed American comfort. Just what you'd expect from American President Lines.

By day, you enjoy deck games, sports and swimming. By night—gala parties, movies and dancing. And it's all included in your fare—plus air-conditioned accommodations, and 350 lbs. free baggage allowance.

There's an APL sailing to fit your schedule, and your pocketbook. Fares from Hong Kong to Manila round trip begin as low as U.S. $112.50 First Class (90 day excursion fare), just U.S. $54 Economy Class. See Air tours also arranged. See your Travel Agents.

FUTURE SAILINGS TO MANILA:

SS PRESIDENT HOOVER.....	July 4
SS PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.....	July 18
SS PRESIDENT WILSON.....	Aug. 11
SS PRESIDENT HOOVER.....	Aug. 22
SS PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.....	Sept. 1
SS PRESIDENT WILSON.....	Sept. 27

7 CONNAUGHT ROAD CENTRAL • HONG KONG

Sports Diary

TODAY
Water-Polo: Army Kin v HK Regt (6.30 pm); CYMCA v Ho Tin (7 pm).
Both matches at Victoria Park Pool.
TOMORROW
Walking: Annual Round The Island walk from Government Stadium 2.45 pm.
Lawn Bowls: Div 1: Hecelo "W" v HKGC; CCC v Hecelo "B"; KCC v FC; USHC v KCC; Talkoo v HKC.
Div 2: HKC "B" v HKCC; HKC "A" v HKCC.
Div 3: HKFC v Talkoo; SC v CCC; KDC v FC; HKCC v HKGC.
Badminton League Div 1: Talkoo v CCC; HKGC v HKFC.
Soccer: Youth League: Happy Valley v Eastern (5. China ground) 8 pm; 517 v Hon Yung (S. China ground) 6.30 pm.

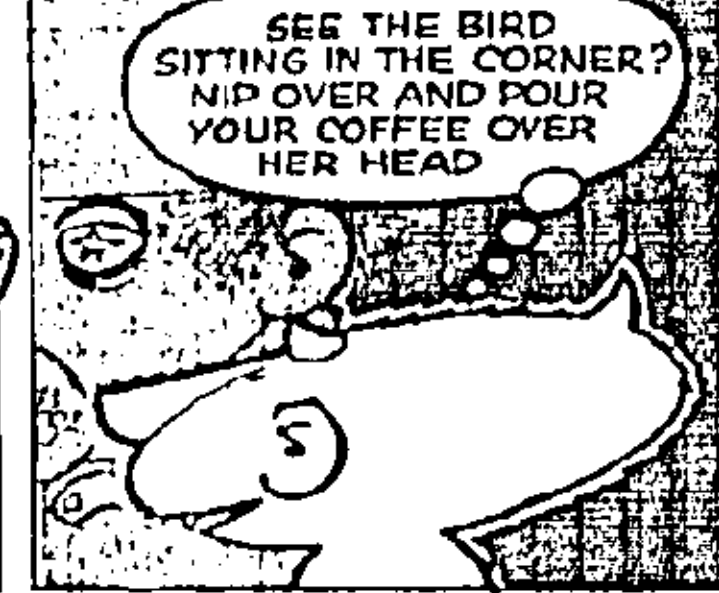

Four D. Jones

By MADDOCKS

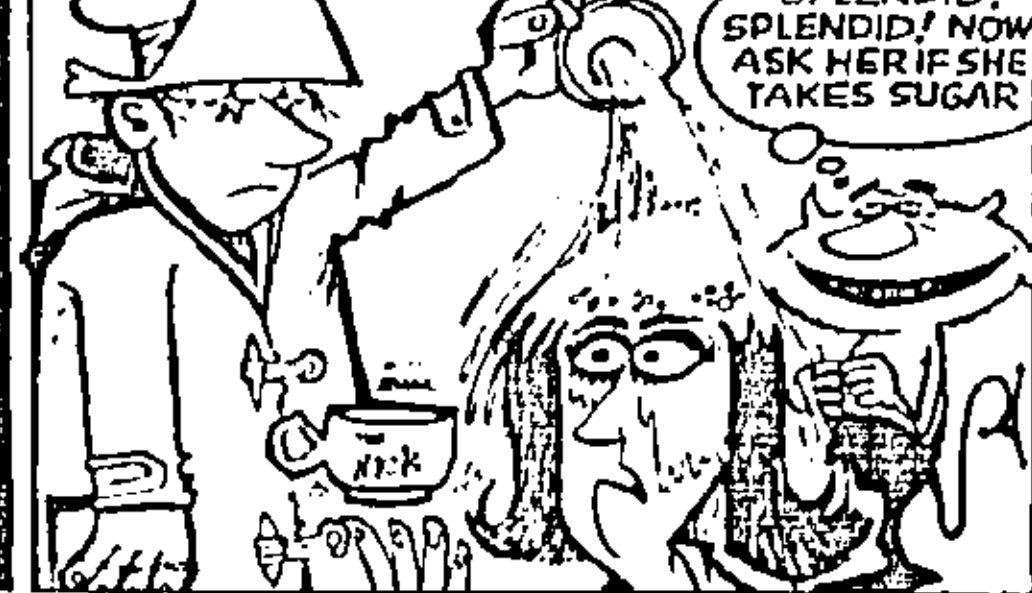

THE UNSUSPECTING JONES IS

HAVING HIS SUGAR TAMPERED WITH!

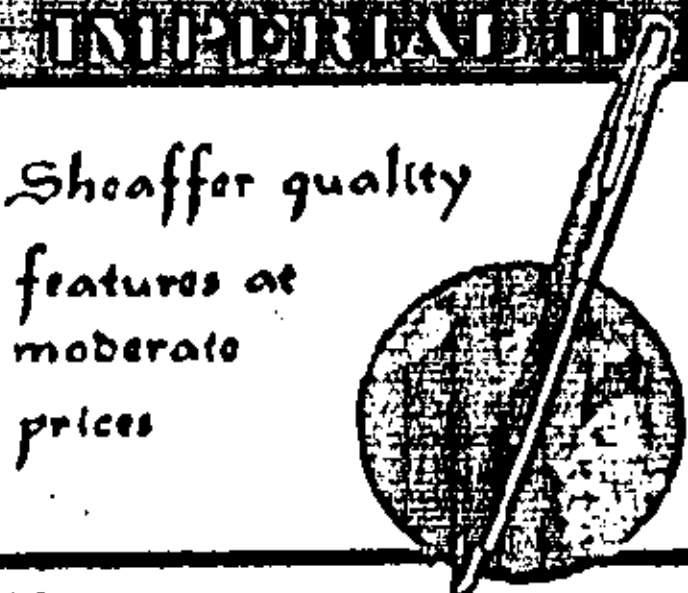

OUR HERO CARRIES OUT THE EVIL DEED THAT

HAS BEEN PLANNED IN HIS MIND...

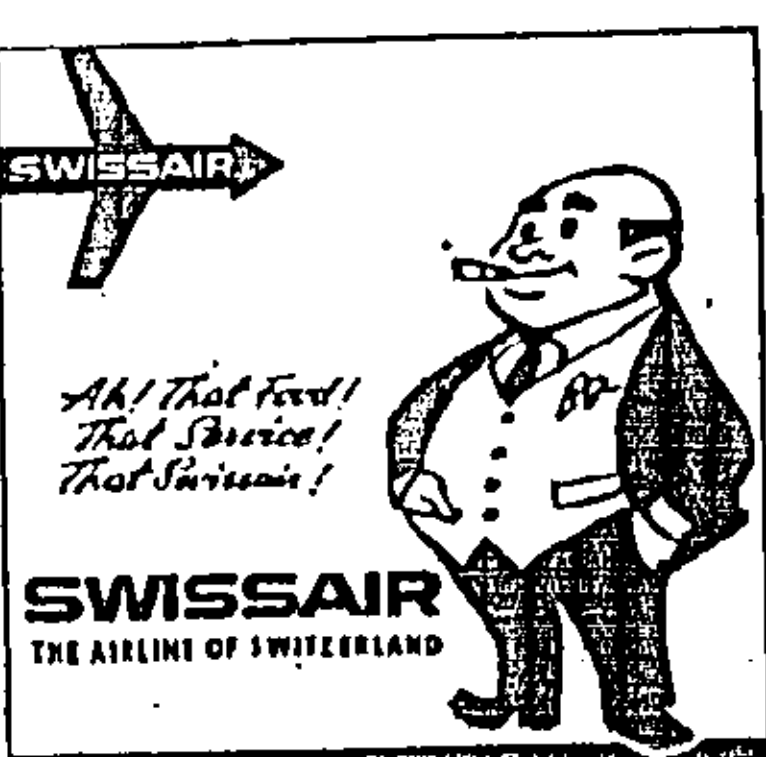

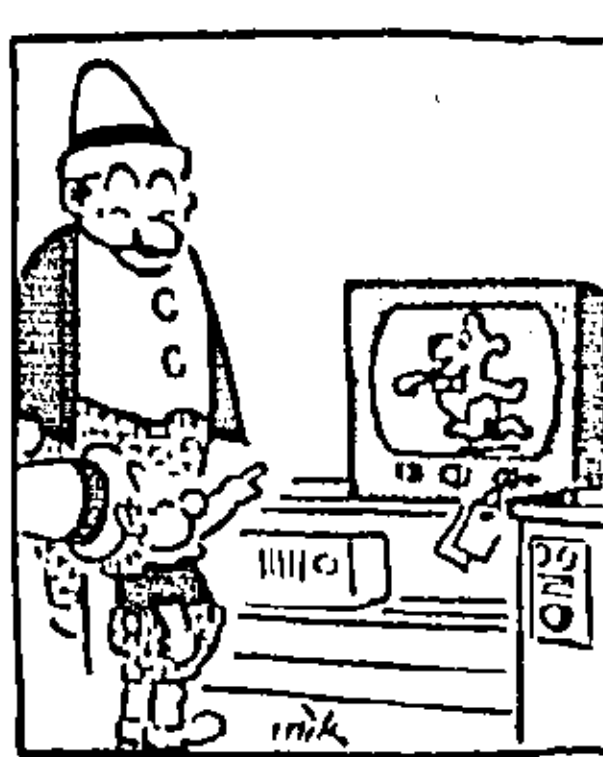

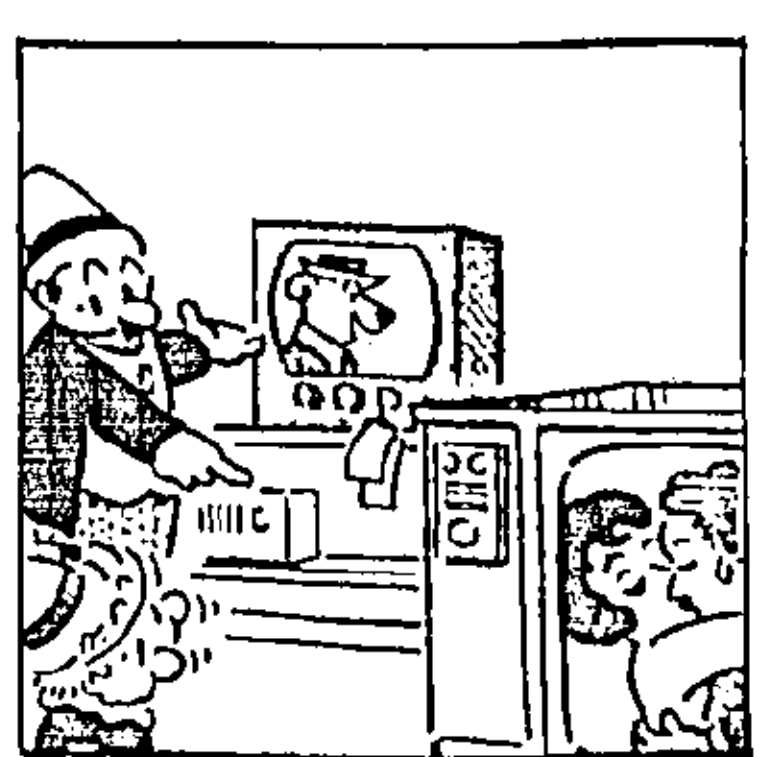

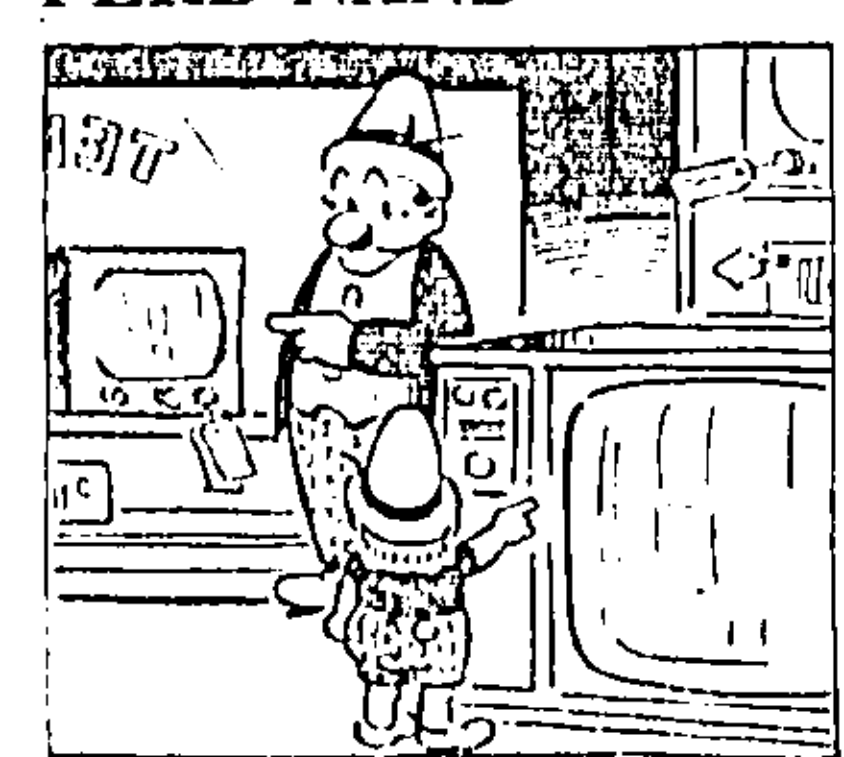

SHEAFFER'S

INTERNATIONAL

FERD'NAND

By Milk

NANCY

By Ernie Bushmiller

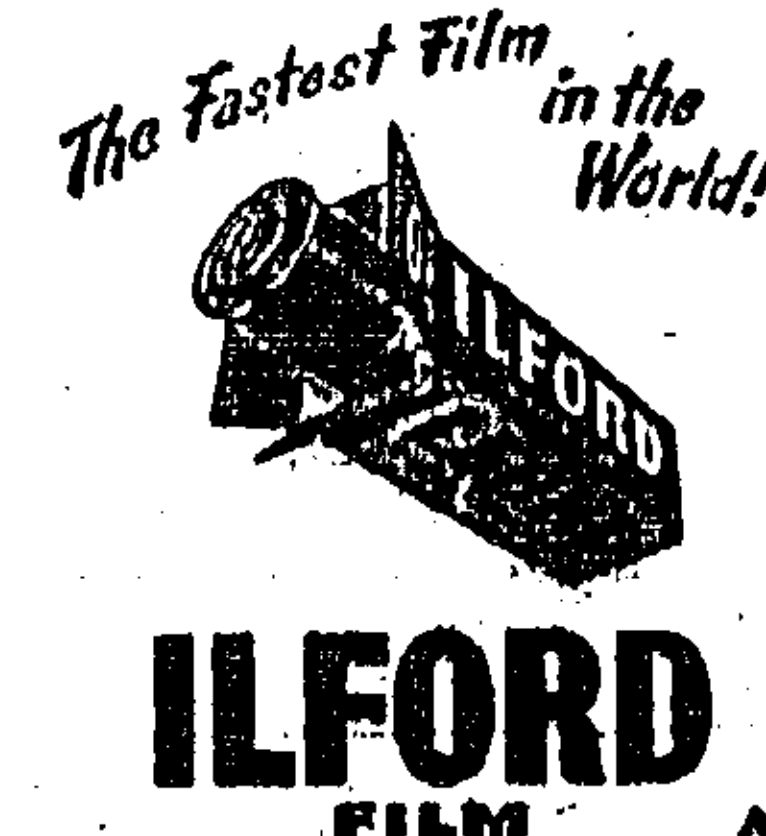

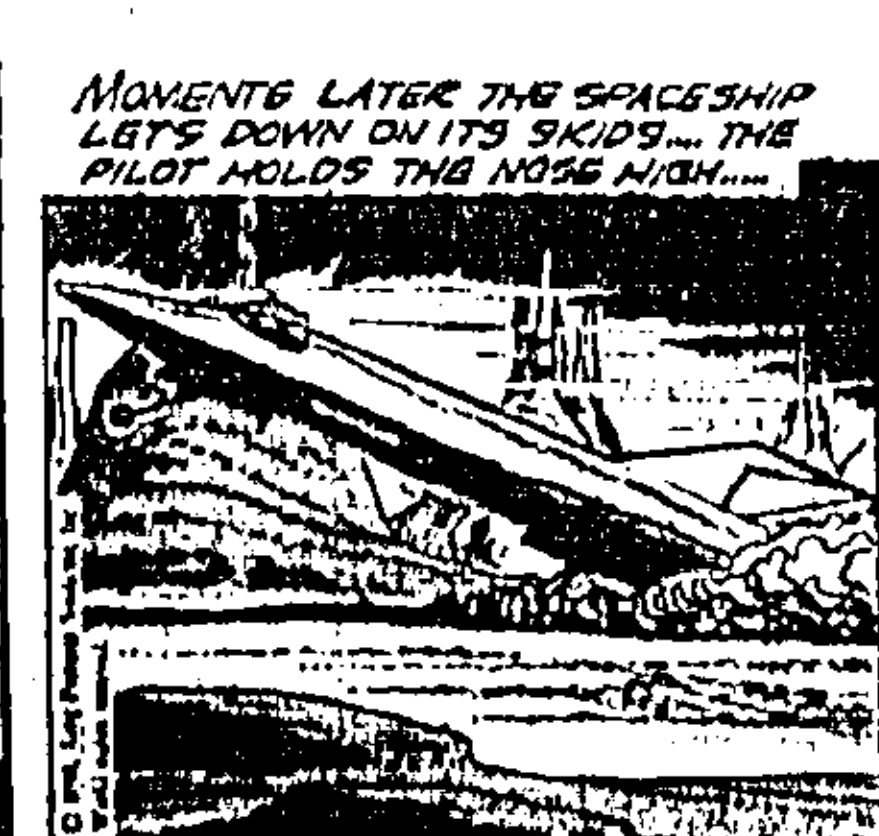

You'll Like

BRICK BRADFORD

By Paul Norris

IT'S THE NEW RONSON CFL

the electric shaver that sets the pace for years to come!

The Ronson CFL is a shaver you'll be proud to own. Proud of its superb modern styling and perfect balance. You'll love the close carefree shave it gives too. In fact, the Ronson CFL is the perfected shaving instrument—it looks it and feels it.

Why CFL? Because only this shaver gives you the Closest, Fastest shave with the Lightest touch of all.

CLOSEST—shaves right to the base of the whiskers. The exclusive Super Trim grooves sideboards and moustache.
FASTEST—Extra-large cutting area halves average shaving time.
LIGHTEST TOUCH of all—no preening, no scraping. Shaves clean at a touch.

The Ronson CFL is sold complete in a luxury presentation case as for real sophistication, you can buy it in a handsome Trip Kit.

SUITABLE FOR 100-125 VOLTS AND 200-240 VOLTS

RONSON — THE INTERNATIONAL STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE.
Sole Agents: ED. A. KELLER & CO., LTD.

To advise Governor on policy NEW MEDICAL ADVISORY BOARD ROLE

Nigerians confer with Govt officials on trade

Members of the Nigerian Economic Mission, headed by the Honourable Chief F. S. Okotie-Eboh, held discussions yesterday with Government officials led by Mr J. J. Cowperthwaite, Financial Secretary and Mr H. A. Angus, Director of Commerce and Industry, on ways and means of expanding trade and other economic contacts between Nigeria and Hongkong.

Identity Card holders told to register

All persons living in Hongkong, Kowloon and Tsun Wan who hold Identity Cards bearing registration numbers in the series 238,001 to 243,000 are now required to re-register with the Commissioner of Registration for the issue of new-type identity cards.

According to an order made by the Governor under the Registration of Persons Ordinance, 1960 and published in the Government Gazette today, the families of these people also have to re-register at the same time.

PREVIOUS ORDERS
This order does not supersede the previous orders made for the re-registration of all holders of old identity cards bearing registration numbers in the series 1,001 to 238,000, together with their families. Such persons who have not yet re-registered should do so as soon as possible.

Also this order does not apply to holders of identity cards bearing the suffix "A" as the re-registration of persons with these identity cards will take place at a later date.

NEED FOR CAPITAL

With regard to Nigeria's need for capital to finance industrialisation, private interests in Hongkong have already made some investment in Nigerian industry, and on occasion Hongkong technicians have assisted in training in industrial skills; there is scope for further expansion in assisting Nigerian development.

It was noted that Nigeria's exports to Hongkong were at present small in comparison with imports of Hongkong products into Nigeria. Among Nigerian products were raw materials such as cotton, groundnut oil, timber, rubber and minerals, for which a market could be found in Hongkong provided commercial considerations of price and quality were favourable and encouragement of trading contacts was expanded by both governments concerned.

In this connection it was agreed that a closer liaison should be established between the Federal Ministry of Commerce and Industry in Nigeria and the Commerce and Industry Department in Hongkong so that trade enquiries could be circulated quickly to interested parties in both countries.

APPOINTED TO LC

Mr W. C. G. Knowles, new Chairman of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce, who has been appointed an Unofficial Member of the Legislative Council from July 1, 1961 to June 30, 1962.

Mr Y. K. Kan who has been appointed to be an Unofficial Member of the Legislative Council from July 1, 1961, to June 30, 1964.

Government appointments gazetted

The following appointments, promotions, transfers and postings have been announced in the Government Gazette this morning:

Mr C. G. Folwell to act as Postmaster-General.
Mr D. J. Harlow to be Deputy Director of Commerce and Industry.
Mr W. Todd, Mr C. J. R. Dawson, Mr A. Morrison and Mr J. P. Law to be Senior Superintendents of Police.
Mr E. D. Moth to act as Assistant Chief Quantity Surveyor.
Mr H. Varty to be Education Officer (Technical).
Mr G. A. Palsey to be Secretary (General).
Mr J. A. Medical and Health Department.
Mr Wong Tai-wo, Assistant Labour Officer, ceased to act as Assistant Registrar General's Department.
The confirmation of the following officers to be permanent and pensionable establishment has been announced: Mr G. H. O'Rourke, Engineer; Mr A. E. Tarrant, Land Surveyor; Mr Charles Lui Yee-chung, Assessor.
Mr A. Inglis, Dr D. J. M. Mackenzie and Mr K. S. Kinnear have been reappointed Official Members of the Legislative Council until June 30, 1962.

Yu Ming in Tokyo

Hongkong film star Miss Yu Ming, twice voted Asia's best actress, arrived in Tokyo yesterday to attend the premiere of the joint Japanese-Hongkong production in which she starred, "A Night in Hongkong" UPI reports.

The film, completed only a few weeks ago in Japan, will be shown on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

3 industrial lots to be sold by public auction

Three industrial lots in San Po Kong, north Kowloon, will be sold by public auction at the Crown Lands and Survey Office, Central Government Offices.

One lot, to be sold on Aug. 1, measures 47,400 square feet and is to be used for the construction of a flat factory. The upset price is $1,420,000 and there is a building covenant of $2,300,000 to be fulfilled in 24 months.

The other two lots, both for industrial purposes, will be sold on July 31.
New Kowloon Island Lot No. 4440 measures 5,700 square feet and the upset price is $171,000. A building covenant of $170,000 is to be fulfilled in 24 months.

Lot No. 4447 is about 5,400 square feet in area and the upset price is $189,000. There is a building covenant of $100,000 to be completed in two years.

Scandinavian journalist in Colony

Mrs Heidi Nielson, editor of the Social Democrat Women's magazine "Frie Kvinder", and staff-writer of the "Femina" a women's magazine circulated throughout Scandinavia, is in Hongkong seeking information about social welfare activities and fashion interest.

With her husband, Mr Magnus Nielson, SAS engineer, son Jan and daughter Berit, Mrs Nielson is making a tour of resettlement areas and crowded localities in the Colony. She found Aberdeen of particular interest and expressed concern about the congestion of sampans in the creek there.

"I must admit the Chinese people seemed fairly happy in spite of such overcrowded conditions, and noticed some of the women wearing gold ornaments and showing gold teeth when they smiled," she commented.

Functions broadly similar to the Education Board

The Medical Advisory Board, which was first set up in 1946 to advise the Governor on matters concerning the public health of the Colony, has been reconstituted with an enlarged membership and its terms of reference have been revised.

The reconstituted Board, with its enhanced status, will now advise the Governor on matters of medical and health policy referred to it by the Director of Medical and Health Services. Its new functions will be broadly similar to those of the Board of Education.

The Director of Medical and Health Services is ex-officio Chairman and the other four ex-officio Members of the Board are the Vice-Chairman of the Urban Council, the President of the Chinese Medical Association, the President of the Hongkong Branch of the British Medical Association, and the Principal Medical and Health Officer, New Territories.

OTHER MEMBERS

The Board also includes a medical officer of the Armed Forces Col. R. J. Niven, the Assistant Director of Medical Services, Land Force and a member of the Medical Faculty of the University, Prof F. E. Stock, Dean of the Faculty. Sir Sik-nin Chau, Dr A. M. Rodrigues, Mr Dhun Rutledge, Mr Lee Ju-chung, Dr F. I. Tsang, Dr F. R. Ashton and the Rev. Sterling Whitener have been appointed individually.

The Secretary to the Board is the President of the Hongkong Branch of the British Medical Association, and the Principal Medical and Health Officer, New Territories. With this membership, the Board will include men closely connected with the medical work of traditional bodies and missionary groups as well as officials working in public medical and health services and those concerned in training doctors.

FORMED IN 1946

When it was first formed in 1946, the Medical Advisory Board comprised civilian and service doctors and its purpose was to correlate, during the re-establishment of the civil administration, the civilian and service medical requirements needed to deal with specific public health problems as they arose from time to time. The Board dealt with advice on the professional aspects of public health work, and was not advisory on general questions affecting Government's medical and health policy in Hongkong as a whole.

Stamp sales

The Hongkong Post Office collected $7,407,708.79 in revenue during May through the sale of postage stamps, postal stationery, etc.

Graduation Concert

Miss Shirley Yang, soprano, shown singing at the Graduation Concert held by the Hongkong Baptist College at the Miramar Convention Hall last night before nearly 1,000 people. A feature of the evening was the renditions by the Texas College Students Choir which had arrived the day before from the U.S.—Malanda Studio photo.

Ho Tung School for girls to be extended

A small portion of the Ho Tung Technical School for Girls in Causeway Bay, is to be demolished for extension work.

The portion affected is the administration block on the right of the school.

Tenders for site formation and demolition work are called for in today's Government Gazette. Work is expected to start in August and be completed by November.

BEACHWEAR COLLECTION IN THE SEASON'S LATEST STYLES

by

OF FRANCE

One of the nicest things about summer is all the fun at the beach.

MODE ELITE has a terrific collection of beachwear by Piège of France that were designed to give you the utmost in comfort, beauty and easy care. In newest elastic fibres—Bucol, Rilsan or Nylon Holanca.

Whether you are swimmer, sunbather or stroller... find exactly the right suit for you at Mode Elite, Ltd.

Kayamally Bldg., 22 Queen's Road, C. HONGKONG. | Ocean View Road, 27 Chaiwan Road, KOW.

Luxury Dreamwear

THIS LOVELY 3PC. BIKINI SET IS AVAILABLE IN LAVENDER - YELLOW - SUNPINK OR BLUE

AT

Paquerette's (of course)
16a Des Voeux Rd., C. Tel. 21-157

